Soccer Manager Off Danger List

MUNICH, Germany (CP)—Matt Busby, manager of the Manchester United soccer team which met disaster in a plane crash here last week, was taken off the danger list in hospital today, but two of his players and the co-pilot of the plane remained in critical condition. Doctors announced that Busby had improved so much that "he can be treated as a normal patient." He is suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries.

Forward John Berry and halfback Duncan Edwards remained "in acute danger," however, along with co-pilot Kenneth Rayment. All three were still unconscious today.

Taken off the critical list along with Busby was Frank Taylor, a London sports writer, while improvement was noted in the condition of halfback Jackie Blanchflower, another team member.

All of the others injured in the crash that took 21 lives, including seven stars of the famed United team, were reported progressing favorably.

Gregory Urges Somers Quit Party on Bonner

Outcome of the Somers bribery conspiracy case has no bearing on Attorney-General Bonner's handling of the affair, Liberal member George Gregory said in the legislature Monday.

Mr. Gregory criticized government backbenchers for their stand that they should wait until the court case is decided before judging the attorney-general's actions.

"The attorney-general's conduct will not be justified if those who stand accused are acquitted," he said, "any more than it will be rendered more reprehensible if they are convicted."

Mr. Gregory gave a review of events in the case since the charges against former lands and forests minister Robert Somers in 1955 which he said showed Mr. Bonner has been "derelict in the performance of his duties."

Mr. Bonner "should be replaced at once by someone who is prepared to fulfil the function of attorney-general without fear or favor," Mr. Gregory said.

Premier Bennett and other members of the cabinet share responsibility for the attorney-

SOMMERS' CASE RESUMES WEDNESDAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charges of bribery and conspiracy against Robert Somers, former lands and forests minister, as well as four companies and their executives are scheduled to be heard Wednesday when the case resumes.

City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran said when the case adjourned more than two weeks ago that all crown and defence lawyers said they would be ready Wednesday to proceed "all day, every day" until a conclusion is reached.

general's actions, the Liberal member said.

He called on other government backbenchers to take a similar stand to that of North Vancouver MLA J. Melvin Bryan who quit Social Credit ranks to become an Independent because of his dissatisfaction with government handling of the case.

"The time for men of courage to show their courage is now," Mr. Gregory said, "when the sole issue is the administration of justice rather than the guilt or innocence of any accused person."

Mr. Gregory also criticized the premier's "repulsive and irresponsible" attack on Mr. Bryan when he crossed the floor last Monday.

"I trust that we will never again see the day when a man is made the subject of personal attack when he acts in accordance with his principles."

The Liberal member said he had seen Highway Minister Gagliardi in the corridor with Mr. Bryan trying to persuade the North Vancouver MLA from taking his stand against the attorney-general.

"That's a lie," Mr. Gagliardi thundered at him.

(On the day Mr. Bryan called on the attorney-general to resign, reporters saw him closeted for more than 20 minutes with Mr. Gagliardi before the sitting began. What was discussed? "We weren't talking about the weather," Mr. Bryan says.)

OTTAWA DID IT—Dealing with the attorney-general's refusal to make public the report of former RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler after his inquiry into the Somers case, Mr. Gregory said there is precedent for such action.

He cited the federal government's "horses on the payroll" scandal when an RCMP report was filed with the House of Commons.

The attorney-general could have cleared his record if he had acted on the Butler report, Mr. Gregory said.

But history shows that he did nothing other than keep it bottled up for 16 long years.

U.S. Jobless Climb

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment in the United States jumped by 1,120,000 last month to a total of 4,494,000. It was the biggest monthly rise since the Second World War.

Sure, thought I had my rose-colored glasses on when I looked northward last night, but I couldn't figure out whether Mr. Pearson, Minister Diefenbaker or Mister Bennett was responsible.

That cow must've thought she was a taxpayer—gittin' milked at the Legislature like that.

Summit Meeting Closer?

Ministers' Meet Not Essential

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that a foreign ministers' meeting with Russia is not essential as a prelude to an East-West summit conference.

Dulles' statement was viewed as a major step toward early East-West negotiations through ambassadorial channels to arrange a summit conference later this year.

The United States, until now, has placed heavy emphasis on a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers—a move the Soviets have opposed.

Dulles made his statement at a news conference about an hour after President Eisenhower and new Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov exchanged formal pledges that the United States and Russia will work for peace through negotiations.

AGREE ON HOPES—Menshikov told reporters after calling at the White House to present his credentials that the president also agreed on the hope that a new summit conference can be "organized."

Dulles, at his news conference, warned anew that it always is difficult to negotiate with the Soviets at any level. He said negotiations take long and hard bargaining.

While negotiations with the Soviets involve hard work, Dulles said however, that this government should undertake to determine whether mutually advantageous agreements can be reached.

Dulles sought to show that his statement on a foreign ministers' meeting did not constitute a shift in American policy. He said that the president had not made a foreign ministers' meeting a pre-condition to a summit meeting in his letter of Jan. 12 to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Diesel Dispute Meeting Set

MONTREAL (CP)—CPR and union officials will meet here Thursday to discuss the controversial diesel dispute—a long-standing issue that could lead to a nation-wide rail strike.

The CPR asked for the meeting to make changes in the working agreements between the company and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), aimed at eliminating firemen from freight and yard diesels.

The company wants to renegotiate the agreements in the light of last Tuesday's report by the Kellogg Royal Commission which said diesel firemen are "unnecessary" on all but passenger trains.

Canada, U.S. Relations Good—Dulles

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Dulles said today, he believes U.S. relations with Canada are being maintained on a satisfactory basis despite difficulties which he conceded have developed between the two countries.

"A whole series of problems" exists between Canada and the United States, he said in listing some Canadian complaints against the U.S., and there is "no absolutely satisfactory" solution to all of them.

But, he told questioners at his weekly press conference, "we have very good relations indeed" with the present Canadian government and with its ministers.

His comment came in response to a reporter's request for his observations as to why Canada-U.S. relations have developed and what can be done to improve them.

CITES DISPOSAL PROGRAM—It followed also a state department denial Monday of an editorial in the Milwaukee Journal which quoted Dulles as telling congressional committee in closed session that the deterioration was due to the "inexperience of the present Canadian government in handling diplomatic relations."

Dulles to Probe Use of U.S. Arms

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—Premier Felix Gaillard agreed to immediate National Assembly debate today on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village.

The Saturday bombing set off a diplomatic crisis for France which threatened relations with Tunisia and sparked world-wide criticism of French policy.

Tunisia said 68 persons were killed, 10 were missing and 84 wounded in the raid.

Tension mounted in Tunisia, where French troops have been confined to their bases by order of President Habib Bourguiba. The Tunisian president was reported determined that French troops must be evacuated from his country as a result of the bombing.

GALLERIES CROWDED—The National Assembly was packed and the diplomatic galleries full as Gaillard strode to the speakers rostrum and announced that he would meet his critics head-on.

The premier, deeply disturbed by the unfavorable foreign reaction, has been in almost continual meetings with his ministers, deputies in the assembly, diplomats and others.

In Washington, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the U.S. deprecates the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

Dulles also told a news conference that his government is investigating whether the French used American-made arms in the attack. Dulles said he raised the question with French Ambassador Herve Alphand at an unusual Sunday conference at his home during which he expressed U.S. concern over the attack.

Dulles said the matter of U.S.-built weapons in French hands is very complex because they were supplied to France at different times and under different conditions. Unless they were recently supplied, he said, it is very difficult to identify the equipment.

Dulles also disclosed that Tunisia has asked the U.S. to support her when she takes the

SPARED LIFE

Ex-U-Boat Commander Rewarded

POOLE, England (Reuters)—An English saloon keeper today invited a German U-boat commander who torpedoed his freighter in the Second World War to come to England as his guest.

Howard Baker, 47, spent nearly 13 years tracing the submarine commander to thank his friendly enemy for saving his life after the ship sank.

Baker was skipper of the British steamer Tweed which was sunk in 1941 off West Africa by the U-124, commanded by Capt. Wilhelm Schultz, 53, Hamburg.

The Tweed sank so quickly that all the lifeboats could not be launched properly. One was floating upside down with Baker and several seamen clinging to it.

Schultz surfaced his submarine, righted the lifeboat, treated the wounded, gave the survivors food and set their course for land 550 miles away.

Baker vowed to find the unknown commander but in the early postwar years was told by the West German embassy that the submarine captain was dead.

Four months ago Baker met a visiting German seaman who knew Schultz and said he was still alive. Baker wrote a Hamburg newspaper which found Schultz.

"He need not have done anything," Baker told patrons of his cosy pub, "but he saved our lives."

Indonesia Rejects Ultimatum

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—The Indonesian government today flatly rejected an ultimatum from civil and military leaders in central Sumatra.

The rebellious leaders in Indonesia's wealthiest island Monday demanded the government's resignation within five days. If the demand is not met, they said, they will "withdraw our loyalty from President Sukarno."

Ganis Harsono, spokesman for the central government here, said the ultimatum served by dissident leader Col. Achmad Hussein "contains nothing new at all."

He described it as "a desperate attempt" to force the downfall of Premier Djuanda's regime.

Flaming Red Northern Lights Thrill Hundreds of Victoria Residents

A spectacular, richly-hued display of Northern Lights delighted thousands of Victorians Monday evening as the sun neared a solar maximum in its 11-year cycle of activity.

The aurora borealis began to make its appearance even before dusk, first as concentrated areas of cherry-red fire, later diffusing across the sky.

In every part of the city, living rooms emptied in favor of porches and lawns as citizens drank in the awesome beauty of the sight.

Between 6.30 and 7 p.m. many thought the red glow was caused by a fire, and newspaper offices were bombarded with callers asking the reason.

The display was described by some observers as the "most remarkable" ever seen. It lasted until nearly midnight.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said he had perhaps seen "more spectacular" northern lights, but could not remember such a vivid red in all his years of observation.

He said it was likely, if nights were clear, Victoria would see several more brilliant displays in the next few weeks.

"The sun is pretty well at solar maximum," he explained. "Solar activity works on an 11-year cycle, and this is the 11th year of the cycle. This is why this time was chosen for the International Geophysical Year."

Scientists all over the world are co-operating in studies of the earth and the solar system during "IGY."

Dr. Petrie said Monday's aurora borealis was caused by the sun setting off explosions and flames, due to the 11-year cycle activity.

The scientific theory is that the auroral lights result from charged electrical particles emitted by the sun which then penetrate the atmosphere, causing it to glow. The displays are concentrated in bands around the north and south poles because the particles are believed to be deflected by the earth's magnetism.

While Dr. Petrie was confident there would be more "spectaculars in the sky" in following weeks, he said no accurate prediction could be made of the next appearance.

In any event, Victoria's weatherman, Bill Mackie, dashed hopes for a repeat performance tonight with a forecast of heavy cloud layers.

Monday's auroral lights were general across Canada, but seen best in B.C. Clouds over the rest of the western provinces cut down visibility, although Yukon, Sask. had a good look as clouds lifted briefly.

Farther east, the aurora borealis interfered with telegraph and teletype transmis-

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God, there are times when I must talk to someone. There is the only name I know that will understand, and Thine the only name that will patiently wait to hear. Thou hast promised that if I call, Thou wilt answer. Lord, my whole emptiness is my call for Thy fullness. I bless Thee, O Christ, that sick people were Thy concern and that they parted from Thee healed in body and spirit. So may Thy power and peace be medicine to me. Amen.

NORMAN
CRIBBENS
IN THE LEGISLATURE

We had just about everything at the Buildings Monday afternoon. Cows milked on the front steps. Farmers storming through the golden gates of the Legislature and shaking the main doors leading into the chamber. CCF leader Bob Strachan raging at the government for two hours and 40 minutes. And then, just to round off the day, George Gregory demanding both a new courthouse and the resignation of Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

If, as Premier Bennett says, this is a quiet session, there will have to be some very quiet days ahead to make up for Monday.

Happily, the rather grim atmosphere inside the Buildings was relieved by the ludicrous appearance outside of Maude the Cow being driven to Parliament by a man in a top hat, followed by gay young women in flowered skirts.

Had the young women tossed roses to the spectators, the whole thing would have looked like a Roman carnival, especially when the cow was led up the majestic stone steps. But when she was milked, so that the white liquid flowed down them, the joke turned just a little sour.

The crowds outside the chamber were chanting "We want Bennett!" when CCF leader Strachan, in a dark blue suit with a sprig of heather, launched his attack on the premier's 1958 budget and the applause he received led some of the demonstrators to think it was meant for them.

"That will show this government the temper of the farmers on this island," commented the CCF leader.

Mr. Strachan lashed himself into a moral fury as he attacked the Bennett administration for cutting staffs in hospitals and jails and reducing the civil service.

"This is not responsible government but reprehensible government," he thundered, pointing an angry finger at the cabinet.

Premier Bennett glared back ferociously but recovered his good humor when Mr. Strachan read his horoscope (for Sept. 6 birthdays) out of last Friday's Times—the day Mr. Bennett brought down his budget. It said:

"Promising to give payment on a debt ahead of the time in which you can comfortably do so would bring dire results."

"There will be dire results for him all right," warned Mr. Strachan. But he omitted the rest of the horoscope:

"After lunch you can make better arrangements for a larger income." (The premier's budget speech began at 3 p.m.)

At the top of his fighting form, Mr. Strachan hit out at the famous airplane expenses of Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, now topping $70,000.

torney-General Bonner told the legislature Monday.

Mr. Bonner made the disclosure in answering criticism by CCF members of curtailment of service by the CPR on its Kettle Valley line because of recent blastings.

The opposition members said the government should see that rail service between Penicton and Nelson is fully restored, even if guards have to be posted.

The attorney-general said the change from bombs to mines by the terrorists had made the problem more serious.

He added that the danger is no longer confined to the area occupied by Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, but extends along 400 miles of track.

"In the circumstances I am not prepared to tell the CPR that guards could protect their men," the attorney-general said. "My recommendation was that crews not be asked to take trains through in the night."

Intensive investigation of the bombings is continuing, the attorney-general said.

Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo, Siccan) said the curtailment was a continuation of "steady erosion of services" by the railroad in the area.

He urged the government to provide extra guards to see that trainmen are given full protection.

"This is not Malaya," said Gordon Dowding (CCF, Burnaby). "There should be no need for armed convoys."

Mr. Dowding said the provincial government should make representations to Ottawa to obtain any necessary protection, and to take the matter up with the Board of Transport.

Mrs. Lois Hagen (CCF, Grand Forks, Greenwood) noted that CPR service now has been cut to two runs a week and said:

"If it's safe two days a week, it's safe the rest of the week."

Always a quiet reasoned speaker, Mr. Gregory carefully dissociated himself and Mr. Gibbs from basic CCF policies.

"We stand opposed to taking over the B.C. Electric or the B.C. Telephone Company, as has been suggested. We believe a man has a right to risk his money for profit as well as for loss."

Mr. Gregory apologized for reading from several newspapers "because we have no Hansard in this House" and once referred to The Times as "the paper that sometimes gives goose pimples to the government side of the House."

B.C. OWNS CENTENNIAL CREST RIGHTS

Attorney-General Bonner said Monday the province has sole rights to the centennial crest.

"It has been brought to my attention that others have claimed copyright and royalties in the province's centennial emblem," the attorney-general said in a prepared statement.

"The province owns the copyright in this emblem and permission for its use may be readily obtained from the centennial committee upon payment of the usual registration fee of $10.

"No other fee or royalty is payable."

Municipalities In Dire Straits

A complete lack of appreciation for the financial problems facing municipalities was shown by the government in its new budget, Victoria Liberal MLA George Gregory told the legislature Monday.

Municipalities are in "very dire straits," Mr. Gregory said. Their income is limited to taxation on real property and does not keep pace with the economy.

The Liberal member also criticized the government's education finance policy, and said it must bring its scale of approved teachers' salaries up to the level actually paid by the school boards.

On the government's current economy drive, Mr. Gregory said:

"We don't think debt reduction is so important it has to be achieved at the cost of human welfare services."

He also criticized the cut in the budget for totem pole preservation program, and said because this is centennial year Chief Mungo Martin should be "kept chopping."

Socreds' Radio Plans Criticized

CCF leader Robert Strachan charged Monday that Premier Bennett is trying to undermine the free press of B.C.

Mr. Strachan criticized the hiring by the Social Credit party of a radio broadcaster to give the party's version of events in the legislature.

The opposition leader told the House that what is needed is a written record of all debates such as Hansard.

"But the government refuses our request for Hansard," he said.

"So I can only assume that this government doesn't want the written record of this House."

"This means they are free to stand up and claim they were misquoted, and to twist what we say . . . and they try to do this by undermining the free press of British Columbia, by attacking it whenever possible, by undermining the confidence of the people in it."

"Now we're to have a ministry of propaganda, a paid servant of the people who support this government, going on about 12 stations every day."

If the Social Credit government wants to tell the people the truth about what happens here, it's simple—have a Hansard in this legislature."

The people of the province are being given a false sense of security about CD's preparedness, Mr. Gregory told the legislature.

No real progress has been made since civil defence was organized here, he said, and the provincial government appropriation has been reduced by 60 per cent over the last four years.

"There's no point in spending money on civil defence if we don't know where we're going," Mr. Gregory said.

The Liberal member said in the Victoria-area there is no transportation to take evacuees to outlying areas, and "not one can of beans or one band aid" at evacuation centres such as Sidney.

Mr. Gregory urged the government to make survival kits available.

He also criticized the fact that there is no special radio frequency set aside for civil defence communications in the event of an attack.

Emergency Ends With Location Of Leaking Main

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The water main leak draining this city's supply of water at an alarming rate was located today and the state of emergency was declared over.

August W. Heckman, commissioner of public works, announced that the leak has been "pin-pointed" in a 36-inch main starting at the city's small receiving reservoir and running under the Hackensack River. Since the leaking water is not undermining the downtown area, the emergency declared early Monday is over, he added.

Pacifists Hope to Halt Nuclear Tests

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four pacifists have set sail in a 30-foot ketch to see what they can do about halting a series of nuclear weapons tests.

They plan to sail right into the area where the United States is scheduled to conduct the tests in April.

Albert S. Bigelow, captain of the small craft, left for Honolulu Monday with a crew of three.

He said they expect to reach Hawaii in about three weeks and sail from there to the Eniwetok testing area.

Bigelow, 51, is from Cos Cob, Conn. His crew members are William Huntington, 51, of St. James, N.Y.; George Willoughby, 43, of Blackwood Terrace, N.J.; and David Gale, 25, son of a Presbyterian minister in Minnesota.

All four are members of the "committee for non-violent action against nuclear weapons."

Survivor Tells Tale Of Horror, Heroism

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — The bodies of two boys missing for three days in bush country in near-zero weather were discovered today near Torrance, Ont.

A search party of volunteers and police came upon the bodies at Brotherson Lake, south of Toronto in the Muskoka district. The bodies were close together and were near where three other members of a hunting party of five from Toronto were found Monday.

The dead are: Robert Petersen, 13, and James Duffy, 14. Rescued were church club leader Andrew Merton, 29; George Farmer, 14, and Douglas McCoy, 13.

They were suffering from shock and exposure when picked up by a Beaver aircraft piloted by one of the most experienced search and rescue pilots in Canada. He traced their wandering trail over land and ice-covered Turtle Lake.

Doctors said George Farmer might lose all his toes from frostbite.

Douglas, who related a tale of horror and heroism from a hospital bed here, said Petersen died of exposure after tumbling into a creek.

Morton and the two rescued boys were semi-delirious and near exhaustion when spotted from a search aircraft flown by Capt. James Moore of Toronto and chartered by D. C. McCoy, Douglas' father. They were brought to hospital here and were incoherent for hours.

McCoy appeared in the best condition. He told his father: "Andy saved us, dad. He wouldn't let us sit down. He made us keep on going and going. We sang hymns and said prayers."

He said Petersen "got wet and we couldn't make him stand up. We dragged him but then we left him."

Moore spotted Morton and the two boys as they staggered along the lake. He was able to land his ski-equipped plane and pick them up.

"Only the McCoy boy was coherent," Moore said. "The other two were stunned by the cold. Their lips were swollen and their hands were puffed up."

Moore said the boys and Morton seemed to have lost all sense of time. They said they buried Petersen in a crude grave under sticks and snow. All they could say about Duffy was that he was "still in the bush."

The group belonged to St. Stephen's United Church in Toronto. Rev. Gilbert Ivany said Morton had taken parties of boys into the Muskoka district before and the four boys on this

TEACHERS' REQUESTS REASONABLE

The School Board has charged that teachers' salary requests are unreasonable. We believe the public should know just what the salaries "fixed" by the Board for 1958 mean in monthly pay to the teachers of Greater Victoria.

1. A properly qualified teacher with two years of university training begins at $225 per month and does not reach his maximum of $372 until he has taught eleven years.

2. A teacher with five years of university training (the minimum for secondary school teaching) begins at $308 per month and does not reach his maximum of $503 until he has taught for twelve years.

3. Those five years of professional training have cost the teacher at least $10,000 in lost earnings and $6,000 in educational expenses.

4. So, after five years of specialized training (and lost income) and twelve years of teaching—seventeen years in all—the best salary a teacher can reach is $503 per month.

5. Even with one or more additional years of university training, the top salary paid is $555.

6. THIS IS THE MAXIMUM SALARY FOR A REGULAR CLASS-ROOM TEACHER IN GREATER VICTORIA.

7. A cost of about 35c per month for the average taxpayer of Victoria is all that stands between salaries at present paid by the Board and those last requested by the teachers.

8. About one-third of the School Districts in the province have already reached salary settlements after amicable negotiation.

WITHOUT EXCEPTION THESE ARE BETTER THAN SCALE WHICH THE BOARD IS TRYING TO FORCE ON THE TEACHERS OF GREATER VICTORIA.

Move to Oust Reeve, Council At Richmond

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Writs were served Monday on Reeve John Stolberg and five councillors of the Municipality of Richmond, giving notice of motion to have their December 12 election declared void.

The writs were issued following swearing of affidavits by four defeated candidates — former councillors Hugh D. Hudson and Archie Blair, who ran for reeve, and Stephen Aderneck and Alex Ander Riddell, who contested two-year council terms.

The notice of motion alleged "certain corrupt and illegal practices" at the municipal elections and asks the six councillors by what authority they hold office.

Palliative and Cure

THE SUM OF $250 MILLIONS looks large in a headline or a pre-election announcement. It is no great sum, however, in a national economy producing and consuming some $30 billions a year. When Mr. Diefenbaker announces — without any parliamentary authority — that his Government will spend $250 millions on public works to provide employment what in fact does this mean to the unemployed and to the national economy?

There are something over 16,000,000 people in Canada. If the $250 millions were divided among all of them, each person — man, woman and child — would receive just under $16, one good day's wages. Of course the money will not be so divided. It will go, in theory at least, to the unemployed (though some of it, in fact, will be used in administration with no direct help to the unemployed).

No one knows exactly how many people are truly unemployed in Canada. The figure changes from day to day. It is rising in some places but has lately dropped a little in British Columbia.

Moreover, the number of persons asking for jobs is no true figure since many of them already have jobs that they don't like. Again, many people seeking jobs do not actually need them to earn a livelihood but would be glad of some extra income. The labor force includes numerous casual, in-and-out workers.

It is to be expected, however, that by the end of March, the bottom of our seasonal working cycle, nearly a million persons will be recorded as looking for work. Probably about a half of them will be in urgent need of employment.

Taking the true unemployment figure at roughly half a million, Mr. Diefenbaker's works program would provide $500 for each bread winner, less administrative costs. Such a sum undoubtedly would be a great help to any unemployed person for the time being but it will not last long and we do not know when the unemployment problem will be cured. At any rate, it is clear that the works program, however wise and desirable, is nothing more than a very small palliative—peculiarly small for a Government which is spending recklessly in many other directions, raising our permanent overhead costs to a record height and making nonsense of its former promises of economy.

Nevertheless, the palliative is welcome and wise so far as it goes. It does not go far and it does not touch the basic problem of unemployment.

That problem arises primarily out of world markets where we are having trouble selling our goods at the high prices we are asking. Unemployment, therefore, has developed for the most part in the great export industries—timber, metals and wheat—and in the various industries dependent upon these giants.

There can be no real recovery from the present recession, no cure from the resulting unemployment, until the giants are restored to health; no restoration for them until we can sell more in the world market; and no chance of selling more if we cannot meet the world price.

In short, we cannot pull ourselves up by our own bootstraps no matter how hard we pull, no matter how much Mr. Diefenbaker spends.

Obviously, then Mr. Diefenbaker's first concern, while palliating unemployment as best he can, should be with our international trade. But here he has done nothing and seems reluctant to do anything—except, gingerly, to raise tariffs and restrict trade.

Yet there is one great chance to increase trade and that is to negotiate seriously for a free trade agreement with Britain.

Mr. Diefenbaker, the self-proclaimed friend of Britain, is unwilling to do this because any such agreement would certainly damage certain Canadian industries in his citadel of Ontario.

Mr. Pearson, however, is prepared to negotiate on trade with Britain and therein lies a great hope for Britain and for us.

Discrimination in B.C.

MR. WILLIAM MURRAY, Social Credit member of the Legislature for Prince Rupert, has called upon British Columbians to practice what they preach on racial segregation.

In a forthright speech he has drawn the attention of the House to discrimination practised in certain sections against Indians. In particular the member mentions mass interdicts imposed on the natives by licensed premises in certain communities.

There may be a number of reasons why beer parlor operators object to particular individuals entering their premises. But if there are valid objections, they most certainly should not be made on racial grounds.

Mr. Murray has urged that our Indians be given the same treatment as other residents—in other words be accorded the status of full citizenship. This is a policy favored by many who have the interests of the natives at heart.

Unfortunately it fails to take into consideration the opinion of many other people who would willingly share all citizenship privileges with Indians if the Indians would share citizenship responsibilities with them.

The difficulties are by no means posed only by one side. However, Mr. Murray performs a service when he draws attention to discrimination on racial grounds in British Columbia. That is a characteristic which should be eliminated.

It is to be hoped his fellow members of the Legislature are impressed by Mr. Murray's argument. They should be on the broadest of grounds. On the more narrowly political front, they might note that Indians vote, too.

Road to Tofino

IF THE TOFINO CHAMBER OF Commerce believed that the Alberni-Tofino road, when completed, would be open for unrestricted use by the public, the West Coast chamber must have been the only group holding that belief.

As the plans were originally laid, MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. undertook to build a road westward from Sproat Lake. B.C. Forest Products were to build eastward from existing roads pushing east from the Ucluelet region, and the Provincial Government was to link the two with a six-mile stretch.

The two companies undertook to construct their roads in this manner as one of the considerations for forest management licences. But it was understood that the new construction would be heavily utilized by logging trucks.

The Real Basis

THE CHEERS OF FARM UNION leaders following the Federal Government's amendment to the Agricultural Price Stabilization Bill appear to have been premature.

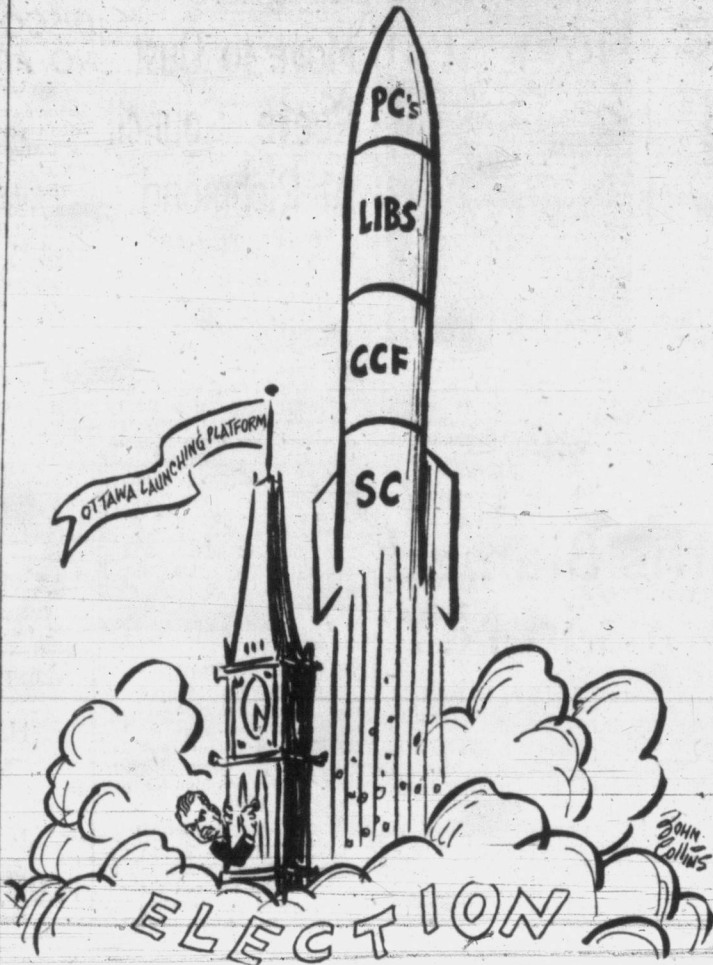

Farmers had objected to the earlier form of the legislation, which based support for commodity prices on the average price prevailing over the previous ten years. The bill was changed to specify the cost of production as the base for price floors—at least the farmers thought this was the case.

Actually, it appears that cost of production will not be the sole base. The Government is committed only to being "guided by" the cost of production. And a question arises: what is the cost of production? It is not defined in the bill. Obviously it must vary from region to region, from farm to farm. An average, if such can be approximated, would prove far from satisfactory to those farmers whose costs are higher.

It appears that despite the revision in the legislation, cost of production will have little bearing in determining support prices. At best it will be only one of several factors entering into the computation, the most important of which will continue to be the ten-year average of market levels.

Travels With a Bean Pot

THE return to Victoria in premature spring after the winter of Ottawa, New York and Washington is not a climatic but rather a religious experience. It is the awakening from a long nightmare. It is the restoration of sanity and faith.

When the plane put down at Pat Bay among lush green fields and we drove home to find our garden aglow with snow-drops, crocus, heather and primrose, we felt that we had been the first human passengers of the missile age and had landed on a new and better planet.

HOWEVER, I had learned another and more practical lesson on this little journey.

Perhaps the reader has noted some of my dull observations lately on the state of politics and other trivial matters of that sort but such things never interested me much nor will they excite the philosophic mind of Victoria when it is immersed in the deeper process of a February spring.

No, what interested me most was my hard and bitter lesson in the mystery of womanhood. I learned, in short, that one should never travel with a lady.

Now, I had traveled a good deal with this lady in many parts of the world through more than three decades and therefore supposed that I knew all her traveling habits. Alas, no man ever learns and always underestimates the power of a lady.

THUS we set out with a solemn covenant against the accumulation of extra baggage. Two suit cases each and no more—that was the agreement. But when it comes to an agreement about baggage you can trust Mr. Khrushchev more safely than the most virtuous female in the land.

A breach of contract had been built into our baggage from the beginning and it appeared, in the form of a string bag, as soon as we crossed the American border.

This string bag, as I suddenly recalled, had been purchased years ago for something like three cents in Spain when we had that amount of Spanish money left in our purse as we crossed the border into France and had to spend it.

An innocent-looking bag; to be sure, a tiny network of nylon thread easily contained in a lady's purse. Yes, but it was capable of indefinite expansion, like a government budget. And, at the critical moment it appeared in Washington after being cunningly concealed, for this purpose, throughout the preceding five years.

Boarding the midnight train to New York, I counted our four bags with special care, since in Washington the excellent Negro porters charge twenty-five cents apiece to carry them. Now there were five separate parcels.

THE string bag had been added, and it bulged, to the dimensions of a full gallon, with a curious collection of loot, topped if you please, by a pair of slippers that continually fell out on the station platform while the porter cursed silently in a dark, African dialect.

The covenant had been broken by one extra parcel but I made no complaint at the moment, for I was mellow with Washington's splendid hospitality and busily meditating the early nuclear destruction of the world. Of what importance was a Spanish string bag and a pair of slippers beside the dire news of Washington?

The hospitality had worn off, the world was still miraculously preserved when we arrived in the jungle of the Pennsylvania Station next morning at six o'clock and there were no porters in sight.

TO lug the full impedimenta of an army through that jungle to a taxi-cab was a feat of physical strength and mental poise amounting to nothing less than sheer heroism and total exhaustion. Anyway, we got finally to a hotel and the bellboy—an old man with a hard eye and a bitter experience of life—regarded us as two country bumpkins from some remote outland like Yonkers or Hoboken.

That man was right in his judgment but he hadn't seen anything yet. After we had undergone the usual New York routine of theatres, ghastly meals and night-club savagery until we could stand it no longer, we packed up again. And then I counted six parcels.

To the army's equipment had been added a gigantic cardboard box weighing forty-three pounds and wrapped up with weak string. There is no honor among ladies.

WHAT did the box contain? The lady refused to say, but it was a great bargain. I was too tired to fight, so how I dragged myself and the freight to the station again, paid the porter a dollar and a half this time, collapsed on the train, repeated the same agony in Toronto and, arriving at the Vancouver airport, behind the string bag spilling its wild contents on the floor and the cardboard box split in twain to reveal what do you think?

Nothing but a monstrous clay pot more than a foot in diameter. What! I asked the lady with remarkable self-control, was the purpose of that pot? She said she would bake beans in it.

At last I realized the purpose of some seven thousand miles of travel. We had gone to New York to get a mess of baked beans when you can buy better ones at any grocery store, already baked, for a small fee. Never, I repeat, never travel with a lady.

Black-Listing

I wonder how many of the teachers—members of the federation—actually approve of the "blacklisting", which might be designated as extraordinary action, and whether those who do not just leave it to the executives and say—"I don't like it, but what can I do?"

Apparently it is only in B.C. so far. What lack of realization of teachers' responsibilities this shows, to the children they undertook to teach, and to their fellow citizens in general—utter callousness as to what their continuously raised salaries mean for the poor, as well as the rich, taxpayers, the minority.

Democracy Vs. Fluoridation

May all your readers mark, learn, and inwardly digest the following basic arguments against fluoridation.

1. It is not right to medicate people against their will with something which can do them no good and may do them much harm.

2. It is not right to use our water supply system for any purpose whatsoever, no matter how well meaning or how worthy, except for what it was meant, namely, to distribute a plentiful supply of pure, clean water acceptable to everyone.

Surely no one can disagree with this.

Manless, Useless Elevators

Is there no one in Victoria who has enough "punch" to raise a protest against the elevator services in the Public Library and the Parliament Buildings? There is a notice in the library, forbidding children to use the machine, and one can see the "old youngsters" climbing up the stairs as in the olden times. This is one instance where the machine has overstepped its usefulness and economy gone off the deep end.

Why delay getting someone on the job?

Supports Re-Election

Owing to a press announcement by an official of the Victoria Federal Conservative Association, there has been some speculation on whether the sitting member, Mr. A. deB. McPhillips, M.P., will be opposed at the coming Conservative nominating convention. As the Victoria Conservative candidate for the House of Commons in the 1953 election, my name has been mentioned in these reports and many of my friends have called in regard to the matter.

It is my personal conviction that, except under extraordinary circumstances, the sitting member should be re-nominated without opposition and I would like to state publicly that I intend to support the re-election of Mr. A. deB. McPhillips to the House of Commons in Ottawa.

FROM BERLIN

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Gateway to Freedom

IMAGINE the drearier kind of low income housing development, with the leopards, greyish cement walls, the treeless grounds and other customary signs of municipal economy.

It is surrounded by a high wire fence that makes a black tracery in the Berlin winter fog. The entrance to this depressing compound is simply the main doorway of one of the blocks of housing, approached by a mere muddy path.

Nothing marks the door but two small crests, the eagle of West Germany and the bear of East Berlin. Such is the greatest, the almost unique gateway to freedom in the world today, the shabby portal of Berlin's refugee transit camp of Marienfelde.

Who in all the comfortable, self-indulgent West has heard of Marienfelde? Yet in the suffering German province of the Soviet empire, Marienfelde has the fame and promise that Ellis Island used to have. In the distant days when the people of the United States really meant every word of the lines on the Statue of Liberty:

"Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, The wretched refuse of your teeming shore."

They came to Marienfelde, the refugees, the freedom-seekers, by hundreds daily. There were 8,500 last month. This month there will probably be as many.

Sad Farewells

They make their pitiful preparations. They say goodbye to the familiar faces and familiar rooms long inhabited, neighbors long known, often even land tilted—to all those things in short that give life its setting and its meaning for most men and women.

From all over the East Zone they take their rail tickets, never to Berlin but always to a further station, in order to deceive the ever-present Communist police.

There is a breathless moment leaving the train at Berlin. There is another breathless moment crossing from Berlin's East Sector into Berlin's West Sector.

And the end is what I first saw when I went out to Marienfelde—a tired grey man and his tired grey wife, each bearing a pitifully small bundle, with two children still bright-faced with youth's marvellous resilience, all trudging down the muddy path to the shabby portal. "Processed" they must be, of course; for who escapes "processing" in modern society? And besides, some of those who come are fleeing criminals or pretended refugees having missions from their Communist masters.

So the stuffy uniformed bureaucrat on the gate gives the newcomers a short, while and quickly shunts them into a grim little waiting room. And thence they are called out for the long Marienfelde processing—registration; police and intelligence; medical examination; certification as bona fide refugees; second medical; assignment to a future home in West Germany; and at last last the crowded bus journey to Tempelhof air-

How Green Their Rally

There must be many Victorians who will recall when the first Soerod government was formed and Mr. Bennett assumed the premiership of B.C. He formed a rally of his supporters and marched in bombastic procession to the buildings, a group of greenhorns—not one of whom had ever had cabinet rank in British Columbia.

I thought of this when the broadcaster of Capital Report discovered the former minister of lands and forests in his hideout.

In that interview the ex-minister reportedly said: "We were all very green. We did many silly and foolish things." How true that is. With the appointment of Mr. Sloan as "adviser" re forest leases, at a salary four times greater than that of the responsible minister, one wonders who will have the final say.

Thank God chickens are coming home to roost and this paltry government is bursting at the seams with several members of the same opinion as the North Vancouver MLA Bryan.

Pride goes before a fall. Note that Robert Bonner, and you've got lots of gall, you soon will be a goner.

Soap Opera

Lands and forests Minister Ray Williston reproves the Opposition for velleit criticism in the matter of Gordon Sloan's appointment as forestry adviser.

Citing Mr. Sloan's excellent qualities, to which no one has taken exception, he carefully avoids mention of the fabulous salary of $50,000 per year with which Mr. Sloan was "successfully" lured from the bench. Mr. Williston does say: "We have a greater investment in this man than in any other single individual."

Who, may I ask, are we? I contend that we, the electorate, are paying for this outrageously high salary incumbency with no unanimous consent. Well, B.C. is being given to Wenner-Gren; big monies are being given to a former judge; Soerod members of the legislature are preying upon a fellow member (Mel Bryan) for speaking the truth.

It's a give-away soap opera, but a great thing stands forth—with all this cheapness of money—the man on the street cannot be bought. Perhaps the soap opera was necessary.

Waxy Butter?

I cannot help commenting on a small news item which caught my eye, e.g., that paraffin is being fed to British cows to produce a pale-colored butter.

Surely you must be mistaken. In the first place it would make the butter taste horrible, and except in the summer months when the cows are out on grass, butter is always pale and artificial coloring is used.

Back to Simplicities

It is early yet for overnight visits to the shack at Shawigan. Even in a winter as mild as this, cold and damp are almost tangible contents of the cabin.

The door protests intrusion. Swollen tight to its casing, it complains against the thrust of a man's shoulder and gives shuddering when he forces his way in.

The room is inhospitable. The copper kettle is scummed green grey. The stove lids are beaded with bright orange rust where water has formed condensation globules. About the interior clings a moist smell of disuse.

There is no royal welcome for an owner returning in February. Outside, the forest drips from intermittent rains. Tree branches, bowed despondently by the weather, reach across the paths to lick with cold tongues the man packing in his bedding and provisions. He nudges a higher limb and a cascade of icy water falls off him.

BUT NOT TOO EARLY

It is early yet for an overnight stop at the Shawigan shack. But it is not so early that a man cannot enjoy his cabin.

The stove inside fights efforts to kindle a fire. It must be coaxed, with lighted newspaper near the chimney flue. It must be pampered with thin kindling to catch in the fire-box.

Still, it can be coaxed into its purpose. The weak flame can be strengthened. The dry wood stacked indoors last fall can be warmed and brought to crackling blaze. After a smoky, steamy start, the range gives off its heat.

The cold fireplace can be made to respond, too. Lighted paper held near the smoke shelf draws life into the small teepee fire below, starts flames dancing on the heavier wood and gnawing the edges of bark.

The cabin steams. Windows mist over and then clear. Warmth steals out into the room, pushing back the accumulated cold. Old cushions yield their dampness.

It is no quick process, this wooing of a cabin back to friendliness after long neglect. But there is an almost sentient response. The blazing fire gives the room a pulse. The company of humans brings life to it again. The murmur of a kettle coming to the boil lends it companionable voice.

Mere occupancy seems to thaw its cold reserve. No longer rejected, it shares a reconciliation, restrained but positive. And as the fires leap and dance with fresh fuel, warmth comes—a warmth not only physical, a comfortable felicity of restored associations.

SHARPER SIGHT, SHARPER HEARING

A man can wander from his shack in the grey of an overcast February afternoon to stand by the lake and see old sights with clearer vision, hear forgotten sounds with sharpened ears.

At this season it is quiet enough to pick out the gentle ring of raindrops hitting the water. In the washed air he catches the shine of new willow brush, lifting red brown twigs above the lake's margin. He can listen to the small melody of water seeping and running in little rivulets down the slope. He can feel the spongy tread of forest duff covering paths.

Occasionally his ear can catch the short, muted call of returning robins, not yet caroling their spring song.

His eye takes in the torn pieces of gauze which is mist on the hillside. He sees the tawny needles which are last year's shedding foliage on cedars, and the bright green of new growth on jackpine.

He can go indoors, as early dusk yields to early dark, smell the fragrance of plain food cooking on the stove and make a banquet of it.

He can sit in the evening gazing without thought into the coals of bark and alder in his fireplace. And he can slip into his sleeping bag with an empty mind, grateful for a simple meal, warmth and shelter, while the rain drums lightly on the roof and water drips from the eaves.

Inco Research helps Canada grow

Towing highly sensitive electronic instruments from a plane, Inco's airborne prospectors look for promising ore deposits in the ground below. Electro-magnetic signals, sent down from the plane, rebound from the earth and are picked up by an electronic receiver in a bomb-shaped container towed by the plane. The signals are relayed to a chart recorder in the plane; a camera synchronized with the recorder takes a continuous strip of photographs of the flight line. Geophysicists locate areas that may contain nickel ore; then ground prospectors are sent in to continue the search.

INCO'S aerial prospectors find minerals underground!

New air exploration techniques reveal hidden sources of nickel in Manitoba

Using a new method of prospecting, developed through Inco research, a significant ore discovery has been made in the Thompson-Moak Lakes region of Manitoba.

Ten years and ten million dollars ago, Inco began exploring likely areas of Northern Manitoba in search of hidden sources of nickel. Flying back and forth over these areas, an aeroplane equipped with special electronic instruments made "soundings" of the earth's crust. It was grueling work; often unrewarding. Still, logging as much as 28,000 miles in a single year, Inco's airborne prospectors were covering more ground than old-time prospectors could have worked in a lifetime. And they got results.

Good results.

As the days ran on into years, interesting patterns began appearing on the charts in the plane. Careful study of these charts indicated the possibility of ore deposits. Ground crews were sent in. After months of detailed investigation and exploratory drilling they confirmed the preliminary findings of the air prospectors. And it was nickel ore!

Production shafts are being sunk as the initial step in a four-year development program that will involve an investment of $175,000,000, most of which will be made by Inco. Starting in 1960, this program—along with improvements at Copper Cliff—will result in an increase to an annual rate of 100,000,000 lbs. of Inco nickel.

In this new land of opportunity 400 miles north of Winnipeg a new town will rise, schools and hospitals will be built, new sources of water power will be developed, new railways will be constructed. And Canada's entire economy will benefit. Inco research helps Canada grow.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Heredity Facts Needed

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

I just received a letter from a couple who urge me to keep talking about the inheritance of nervous troubles. They say that years ago, when they, who are second cousins, were getting married, they were so encouraged to hear from a genetic counselor that the laws of genetics which are so definite for animals apply also to man. They felt so happy about this because, when they went back over their two family-trees, talking things over with their parents and grandparents, they were delighted to find that in three generations there hadn't been a single case of any mental disturbance or epilepsy or mental retardation.

On the strength of this, the couple went ahead and had five children, and, as the genetic counselor thought would happen, all of these children are bright, keen, good-natured, and sensible. They are doing wonderfully well in school, they get along easily and happily with everyone, and they are a joy to their parents and their teachers in school. As my correspondents say, "Why should anyone scold you for talking about the genetic laws which determine what type of nervous system we have, when so often, these laws can make us feel certain that, barring accident, all children who may come from our marriage will be a joy to us?"

I know a fine family of four healthy and bright children who were born to an unusual couple. The wife was the niece of her husband. On general principles, one would fear the result of such a marriage, but because the two people came of a strong, very healthy and level-headed family, their children were all all right. Similarly, one will sometimes see a number of fine children who were born to a couple of first cousins. The only objection that a geneticist has to a cousin-marriage is that if there should be an inherited defect running through the family, the doubling of this defect could seriously injure some of the children. If, however, there is no defect in the family, there is nothing bad for the children to get.

One day, as I was chatting with a very able and fine psychiatrist, I asked him why so many of his fellow-specialists were playing down the facts of heredity. He said, "Well, first, I think, we feel it is just too discouraging to say to a patient that, because his family is shot full of psychosis, he and some of his children could get the disease. This is no way to begin trying to help him."

"Second, if I could not more or less close my mind to the importance of heredity, I would get so discouraged I could hardly go on trying to help many of my patients. Third," and here he blushed a bit, "there is so much insanity in my family that, when I look at my children I feel happier saying to myself that psychosis is due mainly to environment. Finally, some of my colleagues and I are trying to raise money for research in psychiatry, and if you admit that insanity is hereditary, everyone will assume that little can be done, and hence no one will give you any money."

The reason I keep fighting for truth in this field is that, all my life, I have been a student of science and the history of science, and I cannot remember any situation in which men were able to learn much when they refused to face some facts which they personally did not like. In science, one must accept facts, no matter how disturbing they may be; one must accept them instantly, even when they show that all one's work done for several years back must have been wrong because it was based on a wrong supposition.

WHY RAP WOOD?

People ask me why, when we brag about our health, we should rap wood? Because it is my only superstition, for years I kept searching through the literature on medical folklore to find out why so many of us do this trick. Eventually, I found that we don't do it right. The way we do it cannot do any good. Usually, we rap wood lightly after we have said something such as that we "haven't had a cold yet this year." To do it right, as we talk, we should take a big stick and bang on the side of the house and make such a noise that the Devil cannot hear us. The old idea was that if the Devil were to hear a man bragging in this way, he would say to one of his minions, "Just watch me, and see what I will do to that fellow who is so cocky! Watch me while I take him down a peg!"

Tories Spurred by PM In Quebec Says Jung

BRANDON (CP)—A tremendous resurgence of interest in the Progressive Conservative party has occurred in Quebec, mainly because of the personality and leadership of Prime Minister Diefenbaker, says Douglas Jung, former Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Vancouver Centre.

Mr. Jung said in an address Monday night to the Brandon Young Progressive Conservative Association that there now are 3,000 active YPC members in Quebec City alone.

The organization in Quebec, the West and the Atlantic provinces should be built up, he said.

POP-OFF PUNCHER

Kerwin Terrific, And He'll Tell You

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Gale Kerwin is a throwback to the oldtime boxfighters—who knew they were good and proved it.

This handsome, brown-haired, baby-faced young man meets an unbeaten Hungarian hammerer in the televised main event at Madison Square Garden on Friday night. His opponent is accordion-playing Stefan Red.

But Kerwin has convinced all concerned that, at 8 to 5, he is a double-dyed cinch.

"I'm a terrific puncher and I know it," Kerwin smiles angelically. "If I say so myself, I'm pretty good."

This makes Kerwin, the son of an Ottawa real estate man, the first pop-off puncher to come down cauliflower canyon in quite some time.

Most of the current pugilistic crop makes apologies for its talent. They seem to figure that modesty is an attribute in a sport built on violence, as if Emily Post was casting the deciding ballot in a match where the two judges had voted a split.

"I hope I can win, if I'm lucky," the majority of the boffo boys will say with a coy smirk, simpering like debutantes caught bawling in the powder room.

"Me, I'm a great fighter, and it's gonna take a lot of man to whip me," Kerwin says with the confidence of a man hunting mice with an elephant gun.

This puts him in a clouting category along with such as Archie Moore, Max Baer, Tony Galento, Lou Jenkins and Rocky Graziano.

I remember Graziano sitting in his dressing room just before he whipped Tony Zale in a real blood-letting and piping.

'Ah, for Cryin' Out Loud! ...'

"Listen, I want you to get a load of this. I got a guy here who can play The Sidewalks of New York on a mout' organ and he blows wit' his nose. Zale? Ah, fr' cryin' out loud, I'll murder 'im."

Another broth of a boy who had the copyright on "I'll moider da bum" was two-ton Tony Galento. The man who was built like a barrel figured he was taller than the Empire State building and twice as tough as King Kong. He belittled Joe Louis so badly before their set-to that the Brown Bomber wanted to annihilate him—and did only after an extreme struggle.

Baer touted himself as "the body beautiful" and, if he hadn't tried to convince all of the opposite gender in the world that he was, might have been the most gifted box fighter of all time. Jenkins barred nobody, including Jack Dempsey, while Moore waged a national campaign to get a bout with Marciano in which his most raucous cry was that Marciano was "afraid" to face him.

Gale's claims are rather invisible in view of the fact that he has flattened only six rivals in winning 25 of 31 bouts. Red, on the other hand, has won all 17 of his pro bouts—after a 130-bout amateur campaign—and stowed away 13 of his opponents by kayo.

But I like my tigers mean and cocky. Which puts me with Kerwin in this one. Even if he gets licked, I like him.

Wadell's Alert Chore Topples Mount View

A convincing 3-0 shutout over Mount View on Monday moved Esquimalt's junior soccer team into second place in their inter-league standing.

Goalie Brian Wadell recorded his first shutout of the season with valuable assistance from Barry Irwin, Dave Robinson and Vern Banfield, each of whom scored second-half goals.

In other league action, Oak Bay and Mount Douglas battled to a 2-2 deadlock.

Bay's Brian Usher opened the scoring and Bill Mundie sparked Mount Doug into a lead with a pair of fast markers.

Torrid Scoring By City Bowmen

Three local archers shot perfect ends during this week's Dominion Archery Association's Mail Match competition. Frank Jones, Bill Carnes and Dusty Mair accomplished this feat to win "gold" pins.

Jones led the parade with two perfect ends and a red-hot total of 518 for the 10 ends of the round. This equals his own club record and so far is the highest score turned in from any of the 25 clubs entered in the event.

This week's match and club scores follow:

Champs Plan to Take A Well-Deserved Rest

The newly-crowned B.C. curling champions are taking it easy today ... and that's all they plan to do for the balance of the week.

Tony Gutoski's Victoria Curling Club foursome could well use the rest. Participating in the 63rd annual B.C. bonspiel and the double-knockout Consols playoffs at Penicton last week, the Gutoski rink played 19 games in six days.

They won 15 and lost only four in their march to the B.C. crown, which they won Sunday with two victories over Duncan's Glen Harper.

BILL CAUGHT COLD

Both third Bill Dunstan and lead Dale Dalziel find the rest beneficial. Dunstan came down with a bad cold at the weekend and had been bothered by a sore back in the early stages of the bonspiel.

Dalziel, who turned in a sparkling effort for the Victoria rink, developed several blisters on his right hand as a result of his energetic sweeping.

The rink, now awaiting for the Dominion playoffs at Memorial Arena on March 3-7, plan to brush up on several phases of their game after their rest.

Wood Reaches 16s in 'Spiel

WINNIPEG (CP)—Howie Wood, Jr. of Winnipeg Granite Monday night took one step further in the defense of his Manitoba curling title when he defeated clubmate Gerry Duguid 11-10 in an extra end in the provincial single-knockout series.

PATTERSON'S MANAGER REJECTS FANCY OFFER

NEW YORK (UP)—Floyd Patterson has received but will decline an offer of $180,000 to defend his world heavyweight championship in Britain from promoter Alec Griffiths, the champion's manager said today.

Manager Gus d'Amato said he has received a cable from Griffiths offering Patterson $180,000, or 60 per cent of the gate, to defend against British Empire heavyweight champion Joe Erskine of Wales in the Midlands area of England.

"However, I want to state that I am dealing exclusively with promoter Harry Levene regarding a title defence by Patterson in Britain," said d'Amato, who tentatively agreed for Patterson to defend against Erskine in a Levene-promoted bout in London during the summer.

SNOOKER EVENT

Challenger Caught At Head of Stretch

VANCOUVER (CP)—World snooker champion Fred Davis of Wales caught up with challenger George Chenier Monday night to set the stage for a thrilling finish tonight to their 61-game series here.

Playing devastating snooker, the champ won eight of the 12 games played Monday to level the score at 24 games each. Davis, whose title is at stake, was down 19-11 Friday night and 20-16 Saturday.

Vancouver's Chenier, opening Monday night's play with a high break for the day of 77, took the first two games but Davis rallied to take the last four. He won four of the six afternoon games.

The Welshman, who said Sunday that playing with the lighter North American snooker ball was "almost like striking a table tennis ball" compared with hitting the heavier English ball, appeared to be getting the feel of it Monday night.

Results of Monday's games, with Davis' scores first, were: 60-66, 92-33, 66-34, 37-57, 70-6, 75-43, 61-13, 33-90, 69-25, 93-3, 62-53, 75-45.

Six games will be played this afternoon and the remainder tonight.

Wanderers Looking Ahead

In a move designed to instill new blood into their veins, Oak Bay Wanderers First and Second Division English rugby teams are inviting anyone interested in playing for the teams out to practice.

Wanderers hold regular weekly practices Tuesday and Thursday at Windsor Park, starting at 6 p.m.

Team representative, Dick Hales, said Wanderers are "trying to rebuild rugby and the Wanderers. Training sessions will be held and we will do our best to teach all newcomers the game."

Further information may be obtained by phoning Hales at 4-9646.

Cats' Tough Grind Opens in Vancouver

Fielder in Slump As Eddie Gains In Scoring Race

Pat Egan's Victoria Cougars will set out on one of their more strenuous road trips tonight when they meet Vancouver Canucks at the Forum in a postponed Western Hockey League game.

The game was postponed by league president Al Leader, Oct. 29, after eight Cougar players were stricken with the flu.

An important game, it is one of the four that Cougars have in hand they must overcome in the drive toward a playoff spot in the league's Coast Division.

The game is the first of three the Cats will play before returning to Victoria Saturday against league leading Vancouver Canucks. Wednesday they will be in New Westminster against the Royals and Friday they will tour to Seattle to try and cut some points of Americans 23-point lead over them.

THEY'LL BE WATCHED Eddie "Pistol" Dorohoy and Gordy "Junior" Wilson will be the two men most watched by opposing clubs in the grinding games in a five-day schedule.

Dorohoy created a Western Hockey League record here against Winnipeg Warriors Saturday night when he scored assists 419, 420 and 421, to break by two the mark formerly held by New Westminster's Bobby Love.

Wilson, on the other hand, is the player who has broken up games on two successive Saturday nights in Memorial Arena. Junior picked up the goal against Seattle a week ago that gave Cougars their first overtime win of the season and then tallied with the goal last Saturday that pulled Victoria into a 6-6 tie with the Warriors from Winnipeg, prairie division leaders.

EDDIE ON MOVE

Figures released from WHL headquarters Monday showed Dorohoy in third place in the scoring. This was the position held last week by Edmonton's Len Lund.

With five points for the week, Pistol has moved to within one point of Canuck Phil Maloney's 65. Guyle Fielder of Seattle continues to set the pace at 73. American's Ray Kinasevich and Calgary Stampeder's Sid Finney continue in the lead on goals scored with 33 each and Fielder heads up the play-making department with 58 assists.

"Bad Boy" Gary Edmundson of New Westminster is still the most penalized player in the league with 147 minutes to his "dis"-credit.

Junior Playoffs For Kootenays

Both the B.C. and Canadian junior lacrosse playoffs were scheduled for the West Kootenays at the annual meeting of the B.C. Lacrosse Association at Vancouver over the weekend.

It was decided to hold the provincial playoffs in the West Kootenays, the week before Labor Day, with the Canadian Minto Cup final to be played there starting Sept. 2 regardless of what B.C. team is involved.

M. E. Ferguson of Vancouver was re-elected president and W. H. Workman of Vancouver was returned as secretary. Only Island member named to the executive was Doug Fletcher, elected second vice-president.

It was also reported that Nanaimo has a junior team ready, and if an up-island entry in the Mainland League is refused, as expected, the club will likely play Victoria in the senior "B" league along with the Junior Shamrocks.

RETURN TRIP

The road back for Herb Score begins with the long drive from Cleveland to Tucson, Ariz., for Cleveland pitcher and his wife Nancy. Score was seriously injured during 1957 season. (NEA.)

POCKET ROCKET GAINS

Moore Still Tops In NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (CP)—Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard picked up a couple of points on teammate Dickie Moore last week in the National Hockey League scoring race but the pursuit from other quarters remained pretty much a stand-off.

The Montreal Canadiens stars are still running one-two, Moore, leading the pack for a month, scored one goal and now has amassed 66 points. The Little Rocket, with a goal and two assists, edged his total to 63 in the league's official standing released today.

Moore is the top scorer with 30 goals. Richard leads the assists department with 41.

The teams, as well as the scorers, didn't fare any too well. Chicago Black Hawks had the best record for the week—two wins and a loss for four of a possible six points—but are still in the cellar. The Hawks are two points behind Toronto Maple Leafs, who broke even in two games.

Canadiens won, lost and tied and are far in front with 76 points. Detroit had the same record and with 50 points are one behind the second-place New York Rangers who won and lost in two outings. Boston Bruins fared worst, losing two of three starts.

Canadians now are in the happy position of needing only five wins in their remaining 17 games to clinch mathematically the NHL title.

Keeping pace with his mates, Jacques Plante continues to set the pace for the league's goalies with his goals-against average of 2.06. Closest is Glen Hall of Chicago with 2.65.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific "genius". Steady, Bio-Dyne is a wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Rollins---Play College of the South

Susan Butt, voted one of Canada's finest tennis prospects, is currently on a three-month tour of Florida and Caribbean tournaments. The 15-year-old Victoria girl is writing a series of articles exclusively for The Daily Times, telling her impressions of people, places and tennis on the winter circuit.

This is the sixth of her series.

By SUSAN BUTT

WINTER PARK, Fla.—I have really enjoyed my first week at an American college.

Rollins College was originally founded in Winter Park for the purpose of experimentation. Courses were arranged to give students greater freedom in selecting their subjects and it has been said that it was possible to major in subjects ranging from fly fishing to underwater basket-weaving.

Susan

Perhaps this is an exaggeration, but there is no doubt that the school has acquired the reputation as the play college of the south.

Today the Rollins board of directors is trying to build a new and better reputation and for that reason all athletic scholarships for girls have been abolished in the past few years.

But boys can still get many kinds of athletic scholarships—be it tennis, golf, basketball or soccer.

The school is well known for its excellent drama, sculpture and painting courses. Most of the students major in "art" or "human relations".

They come from many parts of North and South America. Two are from Canada. Except for some of the ones on scholarships, the pupils seem to come from fairly wealthy families. They seem more determined to become well-rounded college students than excellent scholars.

The two Canadians are both from Toronto. Joan O'Brien was given an $8,400 scholarship by a tennis enthusiast in her home town. The other, a boy, is here on a rowing scholarship.

The Rollins campus is beautiful. It is on the edge of a lake and surrounded by trees adorned with Spanish moss.

There are many beautiful houses are spacious and comfortable. "Miss Memorial Library" is a beauty. But it is not used as much as the students' centre, where the young people gather to enjoy coffee and doughnut snacks and relax to rock-and-roll music.

I am having an interesting time here. I have talked with students from near and far in the cafeteria, in the dormitories, on the cypress-shaded lawns and around the athletic fields. I have met the school's ace golfer—last weekend he played an exhibition match against Sam Snead—and lost.

I guess college kids are much the same everywhere, but at first I couldn't get used to the smoking in classes, and the wearing of Bermuda shorts all day and the open way in which some students show their affection for each other.

But they are all very nice—friendly, casual and athletic-loving—but serious when it comes to the rules. And the girls are strictly supervised by their house-mothers.

There were good turnouts for our tennis matches against the Rollins team. But the series was not very successful since the courts were soggy from the rain, the college coach was ill, most of the boys had colds, one girl had a kidney stone, another had a wrenched neck, I had a sore wrist and it was windy and cold. Oh, well!

Despite the many athletic and social activities, formal education proceeds. English, Spanish and philosophy are popular subjects but I would not like to stake their appeal against that of tennis or archery.

Ken Funston, with 70, was South Africa's top scorer. Until his dismissal, he had battled with unusual restraint but he fell to a reckless fly-out. He took part in half-century stands with Hugh Tayfield and Chris Burger during his stay of four hours, 50 minutes.

Which, I guess, shows that fame is fleeting even for the great champions.

Aussies Poised For Test Win

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)

Australia established a commanding lead in the fourth test here Monday and is poised to win the cricket series against South Africa.

At the close of the third day's play, South Africa needed 191 more runs, with all their second innings wickets intact, to avoid an innings defeat.

South Africa was all out 1½ hours after tea for 203 in answer to Australia's 401. Forced to follow on, South Africa scored seven without loss. Australia is one up in the five-match series.

MANCHESTER, England (UP)—A funeral plane brought seven of Manchester's greatest football players home from their last road trip Monday.

They were victims of a British European Airways crash at Munich on Thursday night.

The plane brought the great Manchester United football team, sports writers and a few others from a victorious meeting with a Belgrade squad.

The airliner hit a wooden building and went up in flames as it tried to take off in ice and snow.

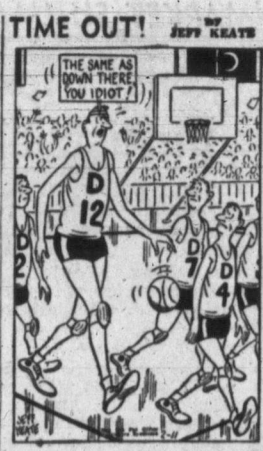

Twenty-one persons, including seven players and eight sports writers, were killed.

Most of the other 44 persons on the flight suffered serious injury.

Monday night the 21 dead finished their trip home to Manchester. Their hearse was another British European Airways plane, its windows covered with black curtains. This time it was a Viscount. The plane that crashed was an older Elizabethan model.

Hundreds of persons stood quietly to watch the coffins unloaded. There were some sobs. But mostly there was silence.

A huge wreath was inscribed: "The Busby Babes, their biographers and those who died with them."

Little League Getting Bigger

Greater Victoria's expanding Little League baseball organization will mark British Columbia's centennial year by hosting two major tournaments.

The Vancouver Island tourney will again be held at Little League Park and the divisional tournament will be staged in Victoria for the first time with dates tentatively set for Aug. 8 and 9.

Under the direction of Les Brown of Vancouver, the divisional playoff will be contested by one team each from Vancouver Island, the B.C. mainland, Washington and Idaho.

At a special meeting in Victoria Sunday, Island leagues named presidents of the nine Greater Victoria circuits and the Duncan and Cowichan Lake loops to serve with director Ron Hobbs on the Island tournament committee.

The Victoria organization, which is expected to expand to 11 leagues before the season opens, decided to hold player registrations for all leagues on the same dates.

Registrations will commence Friday, April 11, from 6 p.m. and continue at two sessions the following day, from 10-12 a.m. and 2-4 p.m. Final chance for registering will come April 13 in a 2-4 p.m. session.

Anxious Al Ready For Good Season

DETROIT (UP)—Al Kaline, "anxious to be the best ball player in the league," has signed for 1958 with the Detroit Tigers.

The 23-year-old outfield star "signed on our terms," general manager Johnny McHale said late Monday. Kaline immediately left for a visit with relatives in Baltimore before heading south for the Tigers' early camp at Lakeland, Fla. It was believed he received neither a raise nor a cut from his plus-$20,000 salary.

"He said he was very anxious to get started," McHale said. "And he's a very serious-minded young man which makes us happy."

"Al said he wanted to get to the early camp so he can make a good start this season in contrast to his past two years when he's been troubled by a sore arm and a generally slow start," McHale said.

Milk Showdown Near; Emergency Parley Set

2nd Meeting With Cabinet Set for Friday Morning

By JOHN MIKA

An emergency meeting Wednesday for 300 Island dairy farmers was called today as events moved towards a showdown following their unprecedented demonstration at the Legislative Buildings Monday.

The farmers and their families descended on the legislative grounds Monday in a protest against a B.C. Milk Board decision that threatened for a time to end in a riot.

Ten executive members of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association met with the full cabinet for 40 minutes this morning to outline the protest.

Following the meeting, they immediately went into a private caucus that lasted 1½ hours.

William Adrain, secretary-manager of the association, announced that the executive would meet with the cabinet again Friday morning.

In the meantime, the association will hold a closed emergency meeting in Ladysmith Wednesday night to vote on a major policy question.

The question was not disclosed.

Speculation was that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had tossed the ball back into the laps of the association by suggesting that the association could withdraw Vancouver Island from the milk board's jurisdiction.

Also rumored was a partial restoration of price differential eliminated by the board last week until the association could set up a single, wholesale selling agency of its own.

There were no indications that the cabinet had accepted the farmers' demand for replacement of the milk board members.

Monday's hour-long demonstration in front of and inside the Parliament Buildings saw the angry mob almost batter down the assembly chamber's doors in an effort to force their demand for a cabinet meeting.

It broke up when John Tisdale, Social Credit MLA for Saanich, finally told the crowd that this morning's meeting with the cabinet had been granted.

RCMP officers in plain clothes, ordered out by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, mingled unobtrusively with the shouting demonstrators when they surged into the lobby outside the legislative chamber.

They did not have to swing into action, although at one point the corridor doors leading to the chamber yielded a couple of inches under the crush of people.

Several loud chants of "We want Bennett, we want Bennett," occasionally interspersed with "We want Strachan," almost drowned out the budget debate going on inside the assembly.

When Premier Bennett did not emerge, some participants began threatening to "go in and get him."

The demonstrators used a cow and a handsaw to show their contempt for the board's decision and refusal of the cabinet to leave the session and meet with the farmers immediately.

A Holstein cow, introduced as the "Honorable Maud, minister of agriculture," was marched up the front steps of the Buildings and milked.

Four gallons of milk spilled down the steps.

The demonstrators' "parade marshal," George Whittaker of Maple Bay, also wielded a handsaw in a mock attack on the locked doors of the assembly chamber.

He said he had brought it along to "use on those blockheads inside."

The demonstrators arrived at the Buildings in a motorcade of about 35 cars and trucks led by a police motorcycle escort.

Placards criticizing the board's decision as a $350,000 annual loss to Island dairy producers were massed around the cow as it was milked on the steps. It had led the motorcade in a trailer towed by a tractor driven by a top-hatted farmer.

The crowd began shouting "We want Bennett," on the steps. Mr. Tisdale came out and said the legislature was in session. He supported the protest saying he was opposed to "sacrifices instead of solutions."

Howls of "that'll take too long," greeted his suggestion that the problem should be taken before the standing committee on agriculture. The crowd streamed into the building soon after he left.

The cow was led out to pasture on the legislative lawn.

Inside, the demonstrators brushed through the "golden gate" into the lobby where ushers quickly bolted the corridor doors.

Several times sergeant-at-arms Denzil Ashby told the crowd that the premier could not leave the chamber while the assembly was in session and asked for quiet.

His requests brought increases in the outbursts. Mr. Ashby said that at the worst point the mob was "out of control," but this was denied by Cecil Bulman, Nanaimo, president of the association.

"When they started rattling the doors, I shouted to keep it down," he said.

The government should not allow the property to become a housing site," he said, "even if it means expropriating the land."

Gaglardi Raps B.C. Papers

Reporting of Legislative News Politically Biased, He Charges

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi charged Monday night that "in many instances" newspaper reporting of events in the Legislature is politically biased.

Some newspapers have "gone out of their way to present an unreasonable picture for political purposes only," Mr. Gaglardi claimed in a free-time political broadcast over the CBC.

"It is a difficult thing for the man on the street to get a true picture of what is going on from some of the accounts that are published," the minister said.

"Most of the newspapers in our province endeavor to do an honest, straightforward job in presenting the picture but must rely upon the services of those who are reporting in the legislature. In many instances these reports can be politically biased."

"The press by and large does an outstanding job but some of the newspapers are backing other political organizations and have gone out of their way to present an unreasonable picture for political purposes only."

Mr. Gaglardi said that on weekend trips to Kamloops to preach at his church he travels "for months" by train and pays his own fare.

Mr. Gaglardi attacked newspaper accounts of the cost of operating his departmental airplanes.

"Glaring figures were used creating an impression of tremendous expenditure," he said. "Not one of these statements is true or related to fact. The airplanes are used by other departments and many officials."

ANGRY FARMERS STORM LEGISLATURE

Demonstrating effect of a price differential abolition, 300 dairy farmers and their families shouted encouragement as a cow (centre) was milked on the Legislative Buildings steps Monday. Demonstrators claimed it showed how Premier Bennett allowed B.C. Milk Board to "milk the farmers." Placards protesting the abolition were massed around the cow as four gallons of milk spilled down the steps.

BRUCH UPSET

'Disgusting Exhibition By Farmers'

Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association put on "a disgusting exhibition" in the Legislative Buildings Monday afternoon, in the opinion of Herbert Bruch, Social Credit MLA for Esquimalt.

"Their conduct in attempting to break down the doors into the legislative chamber was something I never expected to see in Canada," Mr. Bruch told The Times.

"We might as well be living in South America if that is how our people behave."

"Is the parade marshal (George Whittaker) inviting that type of hooliganism at the North Cowichan council meetings or at school board meetings?"

"If the people of B.C. are going to band themselves into petty little groups, each demanding special considerations for their own pecuniary interests, and are going to use mass hysteria instead of sound reasoning and acceptance of responsibility, then I want no part of public life."

Farmers' Show Halted Budget Debate Speech

By PETER MURRAY

The angry demonstration of Vancouver Island dairymen reached a crescendo Monday just as CCF Leader Robert Strachan was rising in the legislative chamber to open the budget speech debate.

As the mob banged on the doors leading to the chamber, Speaker Hugh Shantz ordered the sergeant-at-arms to "take up the intrusion."

Mr. Strachan, after pausing to let the members hear the chants of "We want the cabinet," and "We want Bennett," said the demonstration was indicative of the seriousness of the situation.

Policies of the government and the milk board had driven the farmers of Vancouver Island together as never before, the opposition leader said.

WARREN GIVEN

"I warned the government where its dairy policies would take it," he said, "and the demonstration outside proves it."

John Tisdale, Social Credit member for Saanich who acted as emissary between the demonstrators and government leaders, pounded his desk in approval when Mr. Strachan said the problem must be corrected.

It was learned that Mr. Tisdale asked both Premier Bennett and Agriculture Minister Steacy to go outside and speak to the farmers, but both declined.

Later in his speech when he was dealing with the government's agriculture policies, Mr. Strachan was asked by Dan Campbell (S-Co-mox) whether he approved of the demonstration.

"They did the only thing they could do to bring their complaint to the attention of the government," Mr. Strachan said.

An unidentified government member muttered that the demonstration was "hooliganism."

Loss was estimated at $500 when fire destroyed a storage shed at the home of R. Shelton, First Street, Sidney, at 11 a.m.

The small building located about 15 feet from the house contained blankets, mattresses and other items and was written off as a total loss.

Flames scorched the house but caused only slight damage before the fire was attended to by Sidney volunteer fire department.

New Charge Due in Robbery

A further charge is expected to be laid following recovery of loot from an $8,000 safe-smashing at Sooke early Sunday.

Two brothers—Robert Davis, 84 Cadillac, and Roy Davis, Selwyn Road, Langford—were charged Monday with breaking and entering and possession of an offensive weapon, respectively.

out, off Otter Point Road near Camp Barnard.

Here Are Roller Skates With Sturdy Nylon Wheels

By PENNY SAVER

A bit of sunshine, a hint of crisp weather and nearly all the little tots in Victoria are out wheeling around on roller skates. They're not old enough to realize skates must be handled with care. That's why the new type I've found will be a boon to the parents of these small tots. They're guaranteed to stand up to the hardest wear.

These new type skates have nylon wheels. Mothers, take note, they won't scratch the floors. So, you see, children will be kept amused on rainy days, too!

The straps to fit around the shoe are of sturdy plastic rubber mixture. A pair of these pastel-colored skates cost $3.49.

Another popular sport with the young set is walking on stilts. There's a shop in Victoria that sells tall stilts with rubber-matted foot-holds at $4.95 a pair. They can be seen a mile away.

Saanich council Monday authorized Reeve Arthur Ash to appoint a special committee on amalgamation. The appointees will meet with members of city council to work out their approach to the provincial government in requesting a royal commission investigation.

Reeve Ash said a meeting will be held as soon as Mayor Percy Scurrell returns from a trip at the end of the month.

B.C.'s Budget Saves Saanich $58,000 a Year

The 1958 provincial budget will save Saanich approximately $58,000 annually, equivalent to one mill.

Reeve Arthur Ash Monday told Saanich council the savings would be effected through abolition of the 70-cent per diem charge for residents in hospital and increased provincial sharing of municipal welfare costs.

About three-quarters of the saving will be made this year because the budgetary provisions go into effect in March.

The reeve also said that he had heard "through the grapevine" that the government would be willing to extend its guarantee on waterworks and sewer bonds to the present $500,000 sewer debenture.

This would involve cancellation of the bonds and reissue under the guarantee, he said. About 75 per cent of the 5 1/2 per cent interest charge could be saved through the guarantee.

"It would mean a big saving," the reeve said.

Cordova Bay Hearing Set On Rezoning

A public hearing was ordered by Saanich Council Monday on an application for rezoning of three acres in Cordova Bay area to permit establishment of an outdoor market.

The application was made by William Matlick, the peninsula's biggest farmer. A previous bid to have 6.75 acres at Cordova Bay Road and Lochside Drive rezoned to commercial use was turned down by the town planning commission.

MARKET NEEDED

Mr. Matlick said he needed the outdoor market to increase low returns for his produce at the producer's level.

"Help me save my farm from the subdivision's axe," he said.

He submitted a petition favoring the application signed by 312 residents in the area which he said represented 91 per cent support.

The public hearing will be held at the next council meeting, Feb. 24.

Gravel Sidewalks Urged for Saanich

Gravel paths rather than concrete sidewalks could be used in some Saanich areas, Coun. Stanley Murphy told Saanich council Monday.

He made the suggestion when Coun. George Chatterton, public works chairman, said the sidewalk program is under intensive study. Coun. Chatterton added that the committee was not contemplating abandonment of sidewalk programs.

Coun. George Austin said they were worth the expenditure so long as they saved the life of a single school child.

Manitoba Set On Health Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government today formally announced its intention of entering the proposed national hospital insurance plan and of making hospital care available to all Manitoba residents on a premium basis. The government added it does not intend imposing a sales tax to meet the costs of hospital insurance.

The proposed legislation was outlined in the Speech from the Throne, delivered by Lieutenant Governor J. S. McDiarmid, at the opening of the 24th legislature.

In all, 26 pieces of major legislation were mentioned, including substantially increased education assistance at both school and university level, a stepped-up agricultural program and a record highway program.

Other health and welfare measures will include more money for mothers' allowances, doubling of grants for hospital construction, and the voting of supplementary funds to pay for the two 1957 increases in old age assistance, disability allowances and blind persons allowances.

THEY BLEW BLUES HOT AND COLD Mastersounds Score Hit

So hot they were "cool," the Mastersounds quartet presented jazz in unique and familiar patterns at the Club Sirocco Monday night.

The year-old group gave an arresting treatment to several jazz standards to dazzle a crowd of almost 200 in its first appearance here.

Playing were Monk Montgomery on electronic bass, his brother Buddy on vibes, Richie Crabbtree on piano and Benny Barth on drums.

A controlled intensity was the keynote of their presentation. The sound, firmly knit, ranged from sweet and dry to bold and bouncy, backed always by a steadily insistent drum beat.

MLAs HEAR THRONE SPEECH PEACE APPEAL

WINNIPEG (CP)—A statement on the vital need for peace in the "space era," and the role of the Commonwealth in this new age, was read to members of the Manitoba legislature today by lieutenant-governor J. S. McDiarmid.

The throne speech said: "The past year witnessed the launching of new forces of energy which have changed our concepts of world dimension and dominion. The employment of such energy in constructive pursuits, and the eradication of its use in destructive ends, surely must challenge the prudence and wisdom of world leaders and evoke the hopes and invocations of all who long for lasting peace."

Report Asked on Condition Of Oak Bay Haunted House

A report on the condition of the Gonzales Point "haunted house" was ordered Monday night by Oak Bay Council.

Council acted on a complaint from H. and D. E. Haupthoff, 25 Maquinna, who live near the abandoned two-story house at 2120 Penzance.

The "deteriorated state of this structure... detracts from the value of the surrounding properties and gives the whole district a squalid appearance," their letter said.

"The empty building has attracted a vast number of young children and teen-age children who engage in such pastimes as breaking windows, damaging the interior, throwing objects out of windows, at all hours of the day and night."

"The morals of teen-age children are suffering from the use of this building as a meeting place at night."

Coun. Fred Robinson labelled the house "an eyesore." For the past 30 years it has "contravened a lot of our bylaws," he said.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY

The fortunate child born Wednesday is within the category of those who can achieve a tremendous success in life, since the mind is such that big enterprises do not frighten him or her. Hence, your guidance and the kind of education given will determine the extent of your progeny's accomplishments. The sky is the limit if the consciousness is right. Fine horoscope for world-wide endeavors, science, etc.

Human Needs Sacrificed For Money Says CCFer

Opposition Leader Charges Socreds Deceiving Public for Party Ends

CCF Leader Robert Strachan accused the government Monday of sacrificing human needs to carry out its policy of debt reduction.

While cutting down staff at provincial institutions to save money, the government is putting aside an extra $12,000,000 for debt reduction that is not required, he said.

"The premier has now stated plainly and clearly that he prefers to shovel money into the coffers of someone in New York rather than help the mentally ill here at home."

Mr. Strachan delivered a withering attack on the budget presented to the legislature Friday by Premier Bennett.

INCOMPETENCE, NEGLECT

"The government has been guilty of incompetence and neglect in their economic and financial policy," he charged.

Estimates for the coming fiscal year are "calculated to deceive the electorate and were designed for party political ends."

Three Groups Press Drive For Highway

Three promotional committees were set up recently to press the drive for a completed highway through the Yellowhead Pass from B.C. to Alberta.

The action was taken by 30 members of the Yellowhead Route Association of B.C. who met at Clearwater.

Their objective is a completed road by 1960.

The group also wants the highways department to spend more money maintaining the existing, inadequate road.

The meeting decided to publish a descriptive folder and strip-map depicting the entire length of Highway No. 5, from Princeton to Tete Jaune Cache.

Resolutions urging action on the highway project have been sent to Victoria and Ottawa.

The next general meeting is scheduled for March 3 at Clearwater.

PAIR OF BOOTS NOW ON WAY

Generous Chief Went Shoeless

The sad story of a shoeless Indian chief will soon have a happy ending.

This week a cheery "footnote" was added by Lt. Col. Gilbert Howland, 3749 Quadra, who headed a clothing drive to assist poverty-stricken Indians at Ahousat on the west coast of the Island.

The story began when Chief Paul Sam, footsore and unemployed, appealed to the Indian Arts and Welfare Society for a pair of boots for himself and clothing for members of his band.

The soles of his boots were gone, he wrote. The children were ill-clad and so were their parents.

The Indians, who make their livelihood from the sea, have no money to buy clothes because of poor returns from fishing during the past three years.

The Indian society, the Society of Friends (Quakers), and the Lake Hill Women's Institute, responded to the appeal. They sent 24 sacks of clothing to the settlement.

The chief held a big potlatch to distribute the clothing. Over 500 Indians attended and staged their traditional dances.

It was a big day for the chief. He was generous with his handouts. Standing barefooted before a large fire, he gave an article of clothing to every member of the band.

But when the potlatch ritual was over, the kindly chief looked at his own feet. He was still without boots.

The chief wrote to the society: "I have given away all the clothing, but I'm still without boots. Can you help me?"

Col. Howland said the chief was sent a pair of boots this week.

Teachers' Pay Boost Alarms School Board

Misgivings about the effect of an arbitration board award of a 12.7 per cent pay increase to 194 teachers in School District 68 were expressed Monday by the Nanaimo School Board chairman.

The increase will amount to $106,999, Mrs. Marion Ricker said.

It is estimated the award will result in a tax rate increase of about two mills.

If Nanaimo city council or rural representatives do not accept the increase, cutback can be expected in other fields, such as school maintenance, Mrs. Ricker said.

Borstal Closing Protest Studied By Island JCs

NANAIMO (CP) — A vote may be taken at the next district meeting of Vancouver Island Junior Chamber of Commerce members protesting the proposed closure of New Haven Borstal School by the provincial government.

Attending the annual meeting were over 30 delegates and their wives from junior chamber branches at Courtenay, Port Alberni, Duncan and Victoria.

Chairman was former Port president W. (Bill) McKenzie. A number of motions were passed at the business session.

Laurie Patten, of Nanaimo, brought in a suggestion that all Island units join in distributing centennial brochures to friends and relatives in Canada and the United States.

Island Air Crash Fatal to Pilot

One man is dead and another in hospital at Alert Bay following the crash of a light aircraft on northern Vancouver Island.

A six-man rescue party Monday found Lloyd Helsden, 29, huddled under a shorn-off wing, badly bruised and shaken.

The pilot, K. G. Mainwaring, 37, was dead in the wreckage. The plane crashed Sunday on a Vancouver Island mountainside. Alert Bay, on a small offshore island, is 10 miles from the crash scene.

Rescuers toiled 1,500 feet up the side of a mountain to reach the wreck after it was spotted from the air.

OWNED BY FLIER The float-equipped plane was owned by the pilot. He and Helsden were both mechanics at the Canadian Forest Products Englewood operation, near Alert Bay.

They lived at Nimpkish Lake, 18 miles south, but originally had come from England. At the time of the crash they were returning from a 50-mile flight to Zeballos, on the west coast of the Island. They ran into bad weather.

When the plane failed to report at Alert Bay a search was ordered. Monday afternoon the wreckage was spotted from a plane owned and piloted by Bill Groth, a former commercial airlines flier. With Groth was Bob Pearrault.

After spotting the wreckage they flew to Alert Bay, where Pearrault joined RCMP and civilian rescuers to return to the scene.

They travelled part of the way by water taxi and truck, then scaled the sheer face of the unidentified mountain to where the wreckage lay.

Pearrault said: "It was almost straight up and down." Helsden had managed to crawl from the plane and take shelter under a wing that had been shorn off. Mainwaring's body was left in the plane and will be brought out today.

Pearrault said they reached the wreckage just before dusk, and darkness had closed in by the time they got Helsden down the mountain on a stretcher. They arrived at Alert Bay at 8:20 p.m.

The Truth About Air Ride -and why it's better in a Buick

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Most cars have always used horizontal leaf springs

Some use horizontal torsion bars

For 2 decades, Buick has used nothing but upright coil springs at all 4 wheels for better, softer cushioning.

And to get the most out of these buoyant springs—to bring additional solidity, balance and stability to the ride—

Buick developed a new kind of chassis This exclusive Buick chassis has the rugged roadability of a massive X-braced frame and the true-tracking steadiness of Buick's Rotoflow Torque-Tube Drive

Developed and perfected by 20 years of experience with upright springs, Buick's Miracle Chassis today turns out to be "natural" for replacing upright coil springs with upright air springs It's this exclusive chassis engineering experience that gives you in Buick the smoothest, most advanced, most experienced air ride in the world.

Soccer Manager Off Danger List

MUNICH, Germany (CP)—Matt Busby, manager of the Manchester United soccer team which met disaster in a plane crash here last week, was taken off the danger list. In hospital today, but two of his players and the co-pilot of the plane remained in critical condition. Doctors announced that Busby had improved so much that "he can be treated as a normal patient." He is suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries. Forward John Berry and halfback Duncan Edwards remained "in acute danger," however, along with co-pilot Kenneth Rayment. All three were still unconscious today. Taken off the critical list, along with Busby was Frank Taylor, a London sports writer, while improvement was noted in the condition of halfback Jackie Blanchflower, another team member.

All of the others injured in the crash that took 21 lives, including seven stars of the famed United team, were reported progressing favorably.

Gregory Urges Socreds Quit Party on Bonner

Outcome of the Sommers bribery conspiracy case has no bearing on Attorney-General Bonner's handling of the affair, Liberal member George Gregory said in the legislature Monday.

Mr. Gregory criticized government backbenchers for their stand that they should wait until the court case is decided before judging the attorney-general's actions. "The attorney-general's conduct will not be justified if those who stand accused are acquitted," he said, "any more than it will be rendered more reprehensible if they are convicted."

EVENTS REVIEWED

Mr. Gregory gave a review of events in the case since the charges against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers in 1955 which he said showed Mr. Bonner has been "derelict in the performance of his duties."

Mr. Bonner "should be replaced at once by someone who is prepared to fulfill the function of attorney-general without fear or favor," Mr. Gregory said.

SOMMERS' CASE RESUMES WEDNESDAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charges of bribery and conspiracy against Robert Sommers, former lands and forests minister, as well as four companies and their executives are scheduled to be heard Wednesday when the case resumes. City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran said when the case adjourned more than two weeks ago that all crown and defence lawyers said they would be ready Wednesday to proceed "all day, every day" until a conclusion is reached.

general's actions, the Liberal member said.

He called on other government backbenchers to take a similar stand to that of North Vancouver MLA J. Melvin Bryan who quit Social Credit ranks to become an Independent because of his dissatisfaction with government handling of the case.

"The time for men of courage to show their courage is now," Mr. Gregory said, "when the sole issue is the administration of justice rather than the guilt or innocence of any accused person."

Mr. Gregory also criticized the premier's "reprehensible and irresponsible" attack on Mr. Bryan when he crossed the floor last Monday.

"I trust that we will never again see the day when a man is made the subject of personal attack when he acts in accordance with his principles."

The Liberal member said he had seen Highways Minister Gagliardi in the corridor with Mr. Bryan trying to persuade the North Vancouver MLA from taking his stand against the attorney-general.

"That's a lie," Mr. Gagliardi thundered at him.

On the day Mr. Bryan called on the attorney-general to resign, reporters saw him closeted for more than 20 minutes with Mr. Gagliardi before the sitting began. What was discussed? "We weren't talking about the weather," Mr. Bryan says.

OTTAWA DID IT

Dealing with the attorney-general's refusal to make public the report of former RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler after his inquiry into the Sommers case, Mr. Gregory said there is precedent for such action. He cited the federal government's "horses on the payroll" scandal when an RCMP report was filed with the House of Commons.

The attorney-general could have cleared his record if he had acted on the Butler report, Mr. Gregory said.

"... but history shows that he did nothing other than keep it bottled up for 16 long

Summit Meeting Closer?

Ministers' Meet Not Essential

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that a foreign ministers' meeting with Russia is not essential as a prelude to an East-West summit conference.

Dulles' statement was viewed as a major step toward early East-West negotiations through ambassadorial channels to arrange a summit conference later this year.

The United States, until now, has placed heavy emphasis on a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers—a move the Soviets have opposed.

Dulles made his statement at a news conference about an hour after President Eisenhower and new Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov exchanged formal pledges "that the United States and Russia will work for peace through negotiations."

AGREE ON HOPES

Menshikov told reporters after calling at the White House to present his credentials that the president also agreed on the hope that a new summit conference can be "organized."

Dulles, at his news conference, warned anew that it always is difficult to negotiate with the Soviets at any level. He said negotiations take long and hard bargaining.

While negotiations with the Soviets involve hard work, Dulles said however, that this government should undertake to determine whether mutually advantageous agreements can be reached.

Dulles sought to show that his statement on a foreign ministers' meeting did not constitute a shift in American policy. He said that the president had not made a foreign ministers' meeting a pre-condition to a summit meeting in his letter of Jan. 12 to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Canada, U.S. Relations Good—Dulles

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Dulles said today he believes U.S. relations with Canada are being maintained on a satisfactory basis despite difficulties which he conceded have developed between the two countries.

A "whole series of problems" exists between Canada and the United States, he said in listing some Canadian complaints against the U.S., and there is "no absolutely satisfactory" solution to all of them.

But, he told questioners at his weekly press conference, "we have very good relations indeed" with the present Canadian government and with its ministers.

His comment came in response to a reporter's request for his observations as to why Canada-U.S. relations have deteriorated and what can be done to improve them.

CITES DISPOSAL PROGRAM It followed also a state department denial Monday of an editorial in the Milwaukee Journal which quoted Dulles as telling congressional committees in closed session that the deterioration was due to the "inexperience of the present Canadian government in handling diplomatic relations."

PARIS—Premier Felix Gaillard agreed to immediate National Assembly debate today on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village.

The Saturday bombing set off a diplomatic crisis for France which threatened relations with Tunisia and sparked world-wide criticism of French policy.

Tunisia said 68 persons were killed, 10 were missing and 84 wounded in the raid.

Tension mounted in Tunisia, where French troops have been confined to their bases by order of President Habib Bourguiba. The Tunisian president was reported determined that French troops must be evacuated from his country as a result of the bombing.

bombing incident before the UN Security Council.

Dulles said that at this point he could express neither approval nor disapproval of Tunisia's intention to put the matter before the Security Council.

TUNISIA RESPONSIBLE

He emphasized the U.S. deplors any incident which hurts the trend toward friendly relations between North African and Western European nations.

Earlier, Alphonse said his government holds Tunisia responsible for "aggression" against French forces fighting in Algeria.

At United Nations headquarters, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld discussed the French attack with the Security Council president, Arkady A. Sobolev of Russia, but no council meeting on the case appeared imminent. Hammarskjöld later talked with French delegate Guillaume Georges-Picot.

SPARED LIFE

Ex-U-Boat Commander Rewarded

POOLE, England (Reuters)—An English saloon keeper today invited a German U-boat commander who torpedoed his freighter in the Second World War to come to England as his guest.

Howard Baker, 47, spent nearly 13 years tracing the submarine commander to thank his friendly enemy for saving his life after the ship sank.

Baker was skipper of the British steamer Tweed which was sunk in 1941 off West Africa by the U-124, commanded by Capt. Wilhelm Schultz, 53, Hamburg.

The Tweed sank so quickly that all the lifeboats could not be launched properly. One was floating upside down with Baker and several seamen clinging to it.

Schultz surfaced his submarine, righted the lifeboat, treated the wounded, gave the survivors food and set their course for land 550 miles away.

Baker vowed to find the unknown commander but in the early postwar years was told by the West German embassy that the submarine captain was dead.

Four months ago Baker met a visiting German seaman who knew Schultz and said he was still alive. Baker wrote a Hamburg newspaper which found Schultz.

"He need not have done anything," Baker told patrons of his cosy pub, "but he saved our lives."

Indonesia Rejects Ultimatum

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—The Indonesian government today flatly rejected an ultimatum from civil and military leaders in central Sumatra.

The rebellious leaders in Indonesia's wealthiest island Monday demanded the government's resignation within five days. If the demand is not met, they said, they will "draw our loyalty from President Sukarno."

Ganis Harsono, spokesman for the central government here, said the ultimatum served by dissident leader Col. Archand Hussein "contains nothing new at all."

He described it as "a desperate attempt" to force the downfall of Premier Djuanda's regime.

Flaming Red Northern Lights Thrill Hundreds of Victoria Residents

A spectacular, richly-hued display of Northern Lights delighted thousands of Victorians Monday evening as the sun neared a solar maximum in its 11-year cycle of activity. The aurora borealis began to make its appearance before dusk, first as concentrated area of cherry-red fire, later diffusing across the sky.

In every part of the city, living rooms emptied in favor of porches and lawns as citizens drank in the awesome beauty of the sight.

Between 6.30 and 7 p.m. many thought the red glow was caused by a fire, and newspaper offices were bombarded with callers asking the reason.

The display was described by some observers as the "most remarkable" ever seen. It lasted until nearly midnight.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said he had perhaps seen "more spectacular" northern lights, but could not remember such a vivid red in all his years of observation.

He said it was likely, if nights were clear, Victoria would see several more brilliant displays in the next few weeks.

"The sun is pretty well at solar maximum," he explained. "Solar activity works on an 11-year cycle, and this is the 11th year of the cycle. This is why this time was chosen for the International Geophysical Year."

Scientists all over the world are co-operating in studies of the earth and the solar system during "IGY."

Dr. Petrie said Monday's aurora borealis was caused by the sun setting off explosions and flames, due to the 11-year-cycle activity.

The scientific theory is that the auroral lights result from charged electrical particles emitted by the sun which then penetrate the atmosphere, causing it to glow. The displays are concentrated in bands around the north and south poles because the particles are believed to be deflected by the earth's magnetism.

While Dr. Petrie was confident there would be more "spectaculars in the sky" in following weeks, he said no accurate prediction could be made of the next appearance.

In any event, Victoria's weatherman, Bill Mackie, dashed hopes for a repeat performance tonight with a forecast of heavy cloud layer.

Monday's auroral lights were general across Canada, but seen best in B.C. Clouds over the rest of the western provinces cut down visibility, although Yorkton, Sask., had a good look as clouds lifted briefly.

Farther east, the aurora borealis interfered with telegraph and teletype transmission. The U.S. weather bureau reported the lights were seen over most of the United States and as far south as Vero Beach, Fla.

James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer of the Hayden Planetarium in Manhattan, said he had never seen such complete redness in the northern lights.

In many parts of the North American continent, fire departments received alarm calls. On Vancouver Island, the Sidney volunteer fire department was called out to extinguish a non-existent fire.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God, there are times when I must talk to someone. Thine is the only name I know that will understand, and Thine the only ear that will patiently wait to hear. Thou hast promised that I call, Thou wilt answer. Lord, my whole emptiness is my call for Thy fullness. I bless Thee, O Christ, that sick people were Thy concern and that they parted from Thee healed in body and spirit. So may Thy power and peace be medicine to me. Amen.

Kootenay Terrorists Now Use Contact Mines

Terrorists in the Kootenays aimed at blowing up trains—are now using contact mines not just sections of track, At-

NORMAN
CRIBBENS
IN THE LEGISLATURE

We had just about everything at the Buildings Monday afternoon. Cows milked on the front steps. Farmers storming through the golden gates of the Legislature and shaking the main doors leading into the chamber. CCF leader Bob Strachan raging at the government for two hours and 40 minutes. And then, just to round off the day, George Gregory demanding both a new courthouse and the resignation of Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

If, as Premier Bennett says, this is a quiet session, there will have to be some very quiet days ahead to make up for Monday.

Happily, the rather grim atmosphere inside the Buildings was relieved by the ludicrous appearance outside of Maude the Cow being driven to Parliament by a man in a top hat, followed by gay young women in flowered skirts.

Had the young women tossed roses to the spectators, the whole thing would have looked like a Roman carnival, especially when the cow was led up the majestic stone steps. But when she was milked, so that the white liquid flowed down them, the joke turned just a little sour.

The crowds outside the chamber were chanting "We want Bennett!" when CCF leader Strachan, in a dark blue suit with a sprig of heather, launched his attack on the premier's 1958 budget and the applause he received led some of the demonstrators to think it was meant for them.

"That will show this government the temper of the farmers on this Island," commented the CCF leader.

Mr. Strachan lashed himself into a moral fury as he attacked the Bennett administration for cutting staffs in hospitals and jails and reducing the civil service.

"This is not responsible government but reprehensible government," he thundered, pointing an angry finger at the cabinet.

Premier Bennett glared back ferociously but recovered his good humor when Mr. Strachan read his horoscope (for Sept. 6 birthdays) out of last Friday's Times—the day Mr. Bennett brought down his budget. It said:

"Promising to give payment on a debt ahead of the time in which you can comfortably do so would bring dire results."

"There will be dire results for him all right," warned Mr. Strachan. But he omitted the rest of the horoscope: "After lunch you can make better arrangements for a larger income." (The premier's budget speech began at 3 p.m.)

At the top of his fighting form, Mr. Strachan hit out at the famous airplane expenses of Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, now topping $70,000.

Attorney-General Bonner said Monday the province has sole rights to the centennial crest.

"It has been brought to my attention that others have claimed copyright and royalties in the province's centennial emblem," the attorney-general said in a prepared statement.

"The province owns the copyright in this emblem and permission for its use may be readily obtained from the centennial committee upon payment of the usual registration fee of $10.

"No other fee or royalty is payable."

He added that the danger is no longer confined to the area occupied by Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, but extends along 400 miles of track.

"In the circumstances I am not prepared to tell the CPR that guards could protect their men," the attorney-general said. "My recommendation was that crews not be asked to take trains through in the night."

Intensive investigation of the bombings is continuing, the attorney-general said.

Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo, Slokan) said the curtailment was a continuation of "steady erosion of services" by the railroad in the area.

He urged the government to provide extra guards to see that trainmen are given full protection.

"This is not Malaya," said Gordon Dowding (CCF, Burnaby). "There should be no need for armed convoys."

Mr. Dowding said the provincial government should make representations to Ottawa to obtain any necessary protection, and to take the matter up with the Board of Transport.

Mrs. Lois Hagen (CCF, Grand Forks, Greenwood) noted that CPR service now has been cut to two runs a week and said:

"If it's safe two days a week, it's safe the rest of the week."

COST OF GAGLIARDI'S PLANE TOO HIGH, COMPLAINS CCFer

Cost of operating Highways Minister Gagliardi's departmental airplane was criticized in the Legislature Monday by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

Noting that the public accounts for 1956-57 show the cost of operating and maintaining the plane was $70,000, Mr. Strachan commented:

"It's getting to be pretty expensive flying for a plane that seems to end up at Kamloops every Friday afternoon, and happens to be ready Monday to fly back to Vancouver."

Mr. Strachan also criticized discrepancies in figures covering costs of the plane and other travelling expenses in the Highways Department report for 1956-57 and the public accounts.

B.C. OWNS CENTENNIAL CREST RIGHTS

Attorney-General Bonner said Monday the province has sole rights to the centennial crest.

"It has been brought to my attention that others have claimed copyright and royalties in the province's centennial emblem," the attorney-general said in a prepared statement.

"The province owns the copyright in this emblem and permission for its use may be readily obtained from the centennial committee upon payment of the usual registration fee of $10.

"No other fee or royalty is payable."

Municipalities In Dire Straits

A complete lack of appreciation for the financial problems facing municipalities was shown by the government in its new budget, Victoria Liberal M.L.A. George Gregory told the legislature Monday.

Municipalities are in "very dire straits," Mr. Gregory said. Their income is limited to taxation on real property and does not keep pace with the economy.

The Liberal member also criticized the government's education finance policy, and said it must bring its scale of approved teachers' salaries up to the level actually paid by the school boards.

On the government's current economy drive, Mr. Gregory said: "We don't think debt reduction is so important it has to be achieved at the cost of human welfare services."

He also criticized the cut in the budget for totem pole preservation program, and said because this is centennial year Chief Mungo Martin should be "kept chopping."

Socreds' Radio Plans Criticized

CCF leader Robert Strachan charged Monday that Premier Bennett is trying to undermine the free press of B.C.

Mr. Strachan criticized the hiring by the Social Credit party of a radio broadcaster to give the party's version of events in the legislature.

The opposition leader told the House that what is needed is a written record of all debates such as Hansard.

"But the government refuses our request for Hansard," he said.

"So I can only assume that this government doesn't want the written record of this House. This means they are free to stand up and claim they were misquoted, and to twist what we say . . . and they try to do this by undermining the free press of British Columbia, by attacking it whenever possible, by undermining the confidence of the people in it."

"Now we're to have a ministry of propaganda, a paid servant of the people who support this government, going on about 12 stations every day."

CD 'Unready' For Disaster Says Gregory

B.C.'s civil defence organization is "totally unready" for the disaster of war, Victoria Liberal M.L.A. George Gregory warned Monday.

The people of the province are being given a false sense of security about CD's preparedness, Mr. Gregory told the legislature.

No real progress has been made since civil defence was organized here, he said, and the provincial government appropriation has been reduced by 60 per cent over the last four years.

"There's no point in spending money on civil defence if we don't know where we're going," Mr. Gregory said.

The Liberal member said in the Victoria area there is no transportation to take evacuees to outlying areas, and "not one can of beans or one band aid" at evacuation centres such as Sidney.

Mr. Gregory urged the government to make survival kits available.

He also criticized the fact that there is no special radio frequency set aside for civil defence communications in the event of an attack.

Anxious Al Ready For Good Season

DETROIT (UP)—Al Kaline, "anxious to be the best ball player in the league," has signed for 1958 with the Detroit Tigers. The 23-year-old outfield star "signed on our terms," general manager Johnny McHale said late Monday. Kaline immediately left for a visit with relatives in Baltimore before heading south for the Tigers' early camp at Lakeland, Fla. It was believed he received neither a raise nor a cut from his plus-$20,000 salary.

"He said he was very anxious to get started," McHale said. "And he's a very serious-minded young man which makes us happy."

"Al said he wanted to get to the early camp so he can make a good start this season in contrast to his past two years when he's been troubled by a sore arm and a generally slow start," McHale said.

Manchester, England (UP)—A funeral plane brought seven of Manchester's greatest football players home from their last road trip Monday.

They were victims of a British European Airways crash at Munich on Thursday night. The plane brought the great Manchester United football team, sports writers and a few others from a victorious meeting with a Belgrade squad.

The airliner hit a wooden building and went up in flames as it tried to take off in ice and snow.

Twenty-one persons, including seven players and eight sports writers, were killed. Most of the other 44 persons on the flight suffered serious injury.

Monday night the 21 dead finished their trip home to Manchester. Their hearse was another British European Airways plane, its windows covered with black curtains. This time it was a Viscount. The plane that crashed was an older Elizabethan model.

Hundreds of persons stood quietly to watch the coffins unloaded. There were some sobs. But mostly there was silence.

SOCCER POWER

The Manchester United, in a sense the New York Yankees of British sports, were "Busby's Babes" to their fans all over the British Isles.

Their manager, Matt Busby, lay fighting for his life in a Munich hospital as seven of the Babes were flown to England.

They could not have been more honored in death. Besides the hundreds who crammed the airport, thousands watched the funeral cortege move through shadowed streets. The Manchester United flag flew at half mast from the airport.

In Munich, Busby and a London sportswriter were moved from an emergency ward to private rooms today but remained in serious condition.

Three others, the plane's copilot and players Duncan Edwards and John Berry, were still in the emergency ward in critical condition.

George Willness scored the winner for Courtenay at the 14:40 mark and Flyers' tying rally came in the third period by Bert Yesowick.

By JOHN MIKA

An emergency meeting Wednesday for 300 Island dairy farmers was called today as events moved towards a showdown following their unprecedented demonstration at the Legislative Buildings Monday.

The farmers and their families descended on the legislative grounds Monday in a protest against a B.C. Milk Board decision that threatened for a time to end in a riot.

Ten executive members of the Vancouver Island Dairy Farmers' Association met with the full cabinet for 40 minutes this morning to outline the protest.

Following the meeting, they immediately went into a private caucus that lasted 1½ hours.

William Adrain, secretary-manager of the association, announced that the executive would meet with the cabinet again Friday morning.

In the meantime, the association will hold a closed emergency meeting in Ladysmith Wednesday night to vote on a major policy question.

The question was not disclosed.

Speculation was that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had tossed the ball back into the laps of the association by suggesting that the association could withdraw Vancouver Island from the milk board's jurisdiction.

Also rumored was a partial restoration of a price differential eliminated by the board last week until the association could set up a single, wholesale selling agency of its own.

There were no indications that the cabinet had accepted the farmers' demand for replacement.

Crowd Told Cabinet Meeting Granted

It broke up when John Tisdale, Social Credit MLA for Saanich, finally told the crowd that this morning's meeting with the cabinet had been granted.

RCMP officers in plain clothes, ordered out by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, mingled unobtrusively with the shouting demonstrators when they surged into the lobby outside the legislative chamber.

They did not have to swing into action, although at one point the corridor doors leading to the chamber yielded a couple of inches under the crush of people.

Several loud chants of "We want Bennett, we want Bennett," occasionally interspersed with "We want Strachan," almost drowned out the budget debate going on inside the assembly.

When Premier Bennett did not emerge, some participants began threatening to "go in and get him."

A Holstein cow, introduced as the "Honorable Maud, minister of agriculture," was marched up the front steps of the Buildings and milked.

Four gallons of milk spilled down the steps.

The demonstrators' "parade marshal," George Whittaker of Maple Bay, also wielded a handsaw in a mock attack on the locked doors of the assembly corridors. He said he had brought it along to "use on those blockheads inside."

The demonstrators arrived at the Buildings in a motorcade of about 35 cars and trucks led by a police motorcycle escort.

Placards Claim Loss of $350,000

Placards criticizing the board's decision as a $350,000 annual loss to Island dairy producers were massed around the cow as it was milked on the steps. It had led the motorcade in a trailer towed by a tractor driven by a top-hatted farmer.

The crowd began shouting "We want Bennett," on the steps. Mr. Tisdale came out and said the legislature was in session. He supported the protest saying he was opposed to "sacrifices instead of solutions."

Howls of "that'll take too long," greeted his suggestion that the problem should be taken before the standing committee on agriculture. The crowd streamed into the building soon after he left.

The cow was led out to pasture on the legislative lawn.

Inside, the demonstrators brushed through the "golden gate" into the lobby where ushers quickly bolted the corridor doors.

Several times sergeant-at-arms Denzil Ashby told the crowd that the premier could not leave the chamber while the assembly was in session and asked for quiet.

His requests brought increases in the outbursts. Mr. Ashby said that at the worst point the mob was "out of control," but this was denied by Cecil Bulman, Nanaimo, president of the association.

"When they started rattling the doors, I shouted to keep it down," he said.

Woodland Estates, owners of the 30-acre property, offered to sell the land to the government. It now has a subdivision plan waiting to be approved by the department of municipal affairs.

Patrick Birley, a member of the Capital Region Planning Board, said the government has "one last chance to buy the land before it is turned into a housing site."

Five ships of the Pacific Command's Second Canadian Escort Squadron entered harbor at Yokosuka, Japan, today, preparatory to joining U.S. Far Eastern naval units in exercises commencing Monday.

They are HMC Ships Crescent, Cayuga, Skeena, Fraser and Margaree, at present on a training cruise during which they are working closely with the USN on anti-submarine and convoy exercises.

Gaglardi Raps B.C. Papers

Reporting of Legislative News Politically Biased, He Charges

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi charged Monday night that "in many instances" newspaper reporting of events in the Legislature is politically biased.

Some newspapers have "gone out of their way to present an unreasonable picture for political purposes only," Mr. Gaglardi claimed in a free-time political broadcast over the CBC.

"It is a difficult thing for the man on the street to get a true picture of what is going on from some of the accounts that are published," the minister said.

"Most of the newspapers in our province endeavor to do an honest, straightforward job in presenting the picture but must rely upon the services of those who are reporting in the legislature. In many instances these reports can be politically biased."

"The press by and large does an outstanding job but some of the newspapers are backing other political organizations and have gone out of their way to present an unreasonable picture for political purposes only."

Mr. Gaglardi said that on weekend trips to Kamloops to preach at his church he travels "for months" by train and pays his own fare.

Mr. Gaglardi attacked newspaper accounts of the cost of operating his departmental airplanes.

"Glaring figures were used creating an impression of tremendous expenditure," he said. "Not one of these statements is true or related to fact. The airplanes are used by other departments and many officials."

ON FILM

Bolshoi Ballet March 3

"The Bolshoi Ballet," one of the season's most eagerly-awaited films, opens at the Odeon Theatre Monday, March 3. It was announced today.

Filed in color by the J. Arthur Rank organization at the time that the world-famed ballet played to sell-out crowds in London's Covent Garden Theatre, "The Bolshoi Ballet" will feature Russia's premiere danseuse, Galina Ulanova, in "Ciselle," in two acts, and in excerpts from "Swan Lake" and "The Dying Swan." Other top Russian dancers to be seen include Raisa Struchkova and Nikolai Fadeychev.

The opening night will be sponsored by the women's committee of the Victoria Symphony Society. Curtain rises at 8.30.

In addition to the premiere, "The Bolshoi Ballet" will be shown at the Odeon March 4, 5, 6. There will be two shows on these dates daily. The matinees will start at 2.30 in the afternoon and the evening performances at 8.30.

All seats are reserved.

PETTY CRITICISM

He hit out at the "petty criticisms" of the opposition which he said had a "political intent to do nothing more than cause disunity and disruption."

"Glaring examples of this are the statements that have been made regarding Woodlands, Borstal and other institutions," the minister said, "but the true facts show millions of dollars more will be spent this year than ever before to maintain a high level in these institutions and services, and contrary to what the critics say, Borstal will be maintained."

Sam Lane, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, said the land is situated in one of the most historic areas in Greater Victoria.

Mrs. H. W. S. Soulsby, acting president of the Victoria Natural History Society, said the matter would be discussed at a meeting of the society tonight at 8.

WILL URGE PURCHASE

"We intend to urge Premier Bennett to purchase the land," she said.

George Chatterton, Saanich councillor and a member of the Capital Region Planning Board, said it would be a mistake to let the land go for housing.

"Some of our best park lands are disappearing," he said. "This is one example."

ANGRY FARMERS STORM LEGISLATURE

Demonstrating effect of a price differential abolition, 300 dairy farmers and their families shouted encouragement as a placid cow was milked on the Legislative Buildings steps Monday. Demonstrators claimed it showed how Premier Bennett allowed B.C. Milk Board to "milk the farmers." Placards protesting the abolition were massed around the cow as four gallons of milk spilled down the steps.

BRUCH UPSET

'Disgusting Exhibition By Farmers'

Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association put on "a disgusting exhibition" in the Legislative Buildings Monday afternoon, in the opinion of Herbert Bruch, Social Credit MLA for Esquimalt.

"Their conduct in attempting to break down the doors into the legislative chamber, was something I never expected to see in Canada," Mr. Bruch told The Times.

"We might as well be living in South America if that is how our people behave."

"Is the parade marshal (George Whittaker) inviting that type of hooliganism at the North Cowichan council meetings or at school board meetings?"

"If the people of B.C. are going to band themselves into petty little groups, each demanding special considerations for their own pecuniary interests, and are going to use mass hysteria instead of sound reasoning and acceptance of responsibility, then I want no part of public life."

SAWING FRANTICALLY in a mock attack on the lock of a door leading to the Legislative Assembly corridors Monday was George Whittaker, Maple Bay dairyman, who led demonstration as "parade marshal." (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

Farmers' Show Halted Budget Debate Speech

By PETER MURRAY

The angry demonstration of Vancouver Island dairymen reached a crescendo Monday just as CCF Leader Robert Strachan was rising in the legislative chamber to open the budget speech debate.

As the mob banged on the doors leading to the chamber, Speaker Hugh Shantz ordered the sergeant-at-arms to "take up the intrusion."

Mr. Strachan, after pausing to let the members hear the chants of "We want the cabinet," and "We want Bennett," said the demonstration was indicative of the seriousness of the situation.

Policies of the government and the milk board had driven the farmers of Vancouver Island together as never before, the opposition leader said.

WARNING GIVEN

John Tisdale, Social Credit member for Saanich who acted as emissary between the demonstrators and government leaders, pounded his desk in approval when Mr. Strachan said the problem must be corrected.

It was learned that Mr. Tisdale asked both Premier Bennett and Agriculture Minister Steacy to go outside and speak to the farmers, but both declined.

Later in his speech when he was dealing with the government's agriculture policies, Mr. Strachan was asked by Dan Campbell (S.C.-Comox) whether he approved of the demonstration.

"They did the only thing they could do to bring their complaint to the attention of the government," Mr. Strachan said.

An unidentified government member muttered that the demonstration was "hooliganism."

A pioneer of Saanich, Mrs. Eliza Hobbs, 3830 Hobbs Road, died today at her home at the age of 92.

Mrs. Hobbs and her husband, Frank, came to Victoria from Burton, Somerset, England, in 1895. Childhood sweethearts, they were married here that year in Victoria West Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hobbs assisted her husband for several years during his 31-year term as postmaster of Cadboro Bay.

He later served on Saanich council and was a school trustee in the municipality for 14 years. Frank Hobbs School was named in his honor.

Mrs. Hobbs was a life member of the Daughters of the Nile.

She is survived by the widow, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Gilbert G. Williams, Victoria; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A CNIB film, "Hold Back the Night," will feature the half-hour show on CHEK-TV at 7.30 tonight to mark national White Cane Week.

A Victoria resident whose experience duplicates the film story—he received successful treatment for glaucoma in time to retain his eyesight—will appear on the program with other speakers. Including—Stuart Keate, publisher of The Daily Times.

A film of the 1957 MacDonald Brier Canadian curling championships was shown to Gyro members Monday noon at the Empress Hotel.

Introduced by Ernie Gordon, president of the Victoria Curling Club, the movie presented highlights of last year's curling "world series" in Kingston and was followed by a brief glimpse of Victoria.

Gifts totalling nearly $2,000 were received on "Gift Day" at St. Barnabas' Church, Saturday, Rev. Thomas Bailey said.

The money brought to the church office by friends and members of the congregation will help clear a $3,000 debt on the church hall.

Miss Lillian B. Smethurst, teacher consultant for senior grades, will speak on the work of intermediate grades at a Sir James Douglas-PTA meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m.

A house-to-house collection of items too large for regular garbage collection will be proposed for Victoria again this spring.

Acting-mayor M. H. Mooney said the glad response of residents when a similar pick-up was made last year, indicates a need for the service.

Acting-mayor Mooney said he will make the proposal to council, probably on Thursday.

Donations to the B.C. Child Care and Polio Fund will be received at the polio office until the end of this week, campaign officials said today.

The fund now stands at $41,000. Local objective of Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen, sponsors of the campaign, is $45,000.

Persons missed by the door-to-door canvass Feb. 1 should mail donations to fund headquarters at room 221, Yarrow Building, 625 Fort, or phone 5-6748.

New Charge Due in Robbery

A further charge is expected to be laid following recovery of loot from an $8,000 safe-smashing at Sooke early Sunday.

Two brothers—Robert Davis, 84 Cadillac, and Roy Davis, Selwyn Road, Langford—were charged Monday with breaking and entering and possession of an offensive weapon, respectively.

A 600-pound safe containing $1,200 cash, cheques and at least one security was taken from the office of Walter Conder Realty after a rear door was forced at about 2 a.m.

Shortly before 8 a.m. the safe was found, its bottom chopped out, off Otter Point Road near Camp Barnard.

Boy Scouts from Victoria were attending a weekend camp at Barnard and told police they heard chopping noises nearby during the night.

The broken safe was reported found by Scoutmaster Cyril A. Price, 5221 Gordon, of the Cordova Bay Troop.

The accused brothers were remanded without plea to next Monday.

Here Are Roller Skates With Sturdy Nylon Wheels

By PENNY SAVER

A bit of sunshine, a hint of crisp weather and nearly all the little tots in Victoria are out wheeling around on roller skates. They're not old enough to realize skates must be handled with care. That's why the new type I've found will be a boon to the parents of these small tots. They're guaranteed to stand up to the hardest wear.

These new type skates have nylon wheels. Mothers, take note, they won't scratch the floors. So, you see, children will be kept amused on rainy days, too!

The straps to fit around the shoe are of sturdy plastic rubber mixture. A pair of these pastel-colored skates cost $3.49.

AS NEW PROJECT

Interpret Hospital Needs Urges Nursing Head

Director of nursing at Royal Jubilee Hospital, Miss Mary Richmond, urged members of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IOOE, to take up public relations work for the hospital as their major project in the coming year. The chapter's former major project was assisting patients in the hospital tuberculosis pavilion which was closed last year, and members are undecided on a new project.

Speaking to the chapter at its annual meeting in the Pacific Club, Monday, Miss Richmond told members that public relations work would not be as personally satisfying as work with TB patients, because there would be no direct contact with patients.

"But we need people like you to interpret needs of the hospital to the community," she said.

Annual reports showed outstanding success during the past year. Giving the secretary's report, Mrs. Walter Walsh reviewed main money-making events which were an Easter tea, annual Hospital Day tea, Christmas bazaar, a raffle and bingo parties.

Treasurer, Mrs. V. G. Pritchard announced that receipts for the year totalled $648.16 while disbursements were $694.46.

MUST SHE USE

TABLECLOTH

I am a recent bride and would like to start giving some dinner parties, but I have little in the way of fancy table settings. I am told that it is highly improper to use place mats at a dinner and that a fine linen or lace cloth is required. I have neither. What can I do?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

What a curious statement to make — that it is highly improper to use place mats at a dinner party. Whoever told you that is certainly wrong. By all means, use your place mats without wishing for one moment that you had a linen or lace cloth. Many hostesses prefer them and they are not out of order either. I am sure that you can make your table look very pretty and festive with your mats. If your tablecloth friends are silently critical, they have a lot to learn. If you were to have an ultra formal dinner party, that would be something else, in which case you would want a cloth. But that kind of party is very rare these days. You can give that formal look to your semi-formal dinner party without benefit of a linen or lace cloth.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'Marathoners' Pleased, But Thighs Can Be Stubborn

Those women who joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon already are writing in to tell me about some of the wonderful results they have achieved! Pounds and inches have dropped away. They are gaining or losing where they wish. Many mention a pickup in energy and a feeling of youthfulness which had been lost in the rolls and bulges. It is wonderful for me to know that I have been able to help so many of you.

Quite a few of these readers already have banished most of their figure faults, but still are struggling with large thighs. This is one of the most stubborn spots and usually the last to give in to diet and exercise.

Out-of-proportion thighs are a source of distress to many women with otherwise nice figures. They are stubborn but will yield to a woman's determination. This condition is a result of sagging muscles and fatty deposits. Today I am going to give you an exercise which will mold the thighs into lovelier lines.

Stand facing a table. Take hold of it with both hands. Bend the right knee slightly and at the same time raise the left leg forward with a stiff knee. Slowly straighten the right knee and return left leg to usual position. Repeat several times.

Now bend the left knee and raise the right leg forward with a stiff knee. Straighten left knee and return right leg to position. Repeat several times and continue. After you have done this exercise some time, you will be able to go all the way down until you are sitting one one heel.

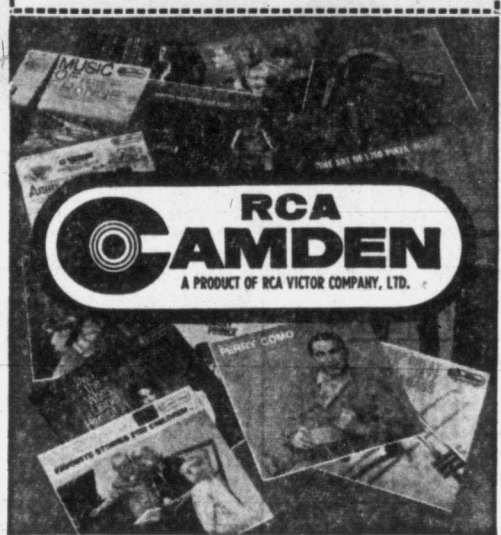

The exercise just described firms the thigh muscles. Do the following one also: Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place the feet on the floor fairly close to your hips. Raise the heels from the floor.

Keep the toes on the floor as you roll from side to side, slapping the thigh at the end of each roll.

If you failed to join Marathon and would like to do so for a loss of up to 20 pounds in eight weeks time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

ASH AUTHORIZED TO APPOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY MERGER

Saanich council Monday authorized Reeve Arthur Ash to appoint a special committee on amalgamation.

The appointees will meet with members of city council to work out their approach to the provincial government in requesting a royal commission investigation.

Reeve Ash said a meeting will be held as soon as Mayor Percy Scourrah returns from a trip at the end of the month.

Four UBCM Vacancies Filled

Victoria city council was advised Monday of four changes in the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The new members, who will share directorship with the chairman, Reeve C. A. P. Muri, son of Lake Cowichan, and the local board representative, Mayor Percy Scourrah, among others, replace one member who died and three who were defeated in the last civic elections.

Appointed by the chairman to the vacancies are Reeve F. E. Atkinson, of Summerland; Reeve P. Jenewein, of Maple Ridge; Mayor L. A. Read, of Trail, and Reeve R. J. G. Richards, of West Vancouver.

They take seats vacated by the late Mayor J. J. Ladd, of Kelowna; former Reeve C. W. MacSorley, Burnaby; former mayor C. W. Cates, North Vancouver, and former mayor Joseph Kary, of Nelson.

Tea and Sympathy

Following her smash hit in "The King and I," Deborah Kerr gives a magnificent performance in this production, which played 91 weeks on Broadway. It stars the players who created the original roles: Deborah Kerr, John Kerr and Jeff Erickson. It is in Cinemascope and color—the love story of a teen-age student and an understanding woman. The question is—where does a woman's sympathy leave off and her indifference begin? It is daring and outspoken, a very much talked about film.

B.C.'s Budget Saves Saanich $58,000 a Year

The 1958 provincial budget will save Saanich approximately $58,000 annually, equivalent to one mill.

Reeve Arthur Ash Monday told Saanich council the savings would be effected through abolition of the 70-cent per diem charge for residents in hospital and increased provincial sharing of municipal welfare costs.

About three-quarters of the saving will be made this year because the budgetary provisions go into effect in March.

The reeve also said that he had heard "through the grapevine" that the government would be willing to extend its guarantee on waterworks and sewer bonds to the present $500,000 sewer debenture.

This would involve cancellation of the bonds and re-issue under the guarantee, he said. About .75 per cent of the 5½ per cent interest charge could be saved through the guarantee.

"It would mean a big saving," the reeve said.

Cordova Bay Hearing Set On Rezoning

A public hearing was ordered by Saanich Council Monday on an application for rezoning of three acres in Cordova Bay area to permit establishment of an outdoor market.

The application was made by William Mattick, the peninsula's biggest farmer. A previous bid to have 6.75 acres at Cordova Bay Road and Lochside Drive rezoned to commercial use was turned down by the town planning commission.

MARKET NEEDED

Mr. Mattick said he needed the outdoor market to increase low returns for his produce at the producer's level.

"Help me save my farm from the subdivider's axe," he said.

He submitted a petition favoring the application signed by 312 residents in the area which he said represented 91 per cent support.

The public hearing will be held at the next council meeting, Feb. 24.

Gravel Sidewalks Urged for Saanich

Gravel paths rather than concrete sidewalks could be used in some Saanich areas, Coun. Stanley Murphy told Saanich council Monday.

He made the suggestion when Coun. George Chatterton, public works chairman, said the sidewalk program is under intensive study. Coun. Chatterton added that the committee was not contemplating abandonment of sidewalk programs.

Coun. George Austin said they were worth the expenditure so long as they saved the life of a single school child.

Manitoba Set On Health Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government today formally announced its intention of entering the proposed national hospital insurance plan and of making hospital care available to all Manitoba residents on a premium basis. The government added it does not intend imposing a sales tax to meet the costs of hospital insurance.

The proposed legislation was outlined in the Speech from the Throne, delivered by Lieutenant-Governor J. S. McDiarmid, at the opening of the 24th legislature.

In all, 26 pieces of major legislation were mentioned, including substantially increased education assistance at both school and university level, a stepped-up agricultural program and a record highway program.

Other health and welfare measures will include more money for mothers' allowances, doubling of grants for hospital construction, and the voting of supplementary funds to pay for the two 1957 increases in old age assistance, disability allowances and blind persons allowances.

THEY BLEW BLUES HOT AND COLD

Mastersounds Score Hit

So hot they were "cool," the Mastersounds quartet presented jazz in unique and familiar patterns at the Club Sirocco Monday night.

The year-old group gave an arresting treatment to several jazz standards to dazzle a crowd of almost 200 in its first appearance here.

Playing were Monk Montgomery on electronic bass, his brother Buddy on vibes, Richie Crabbree on piano and Benny Barth on drums.

MLAs HEAR THRONE SPEECH PEACE APPEAL

WINNIPEG (CP)—A statement on the vital need for peace in the "space age," and the role of the Commonwealth in this new age, was read to members of the Manitoba legislature today by Lieutenant-governor J. S. McDiarmid.

The throne speech said: "The past year witnessed the launching of new forces of energy which have changed our concepts of world dimension and dominion. The employment of such energy in constructive pursuits, and the eradication of its use in destructive ends, surely must challenge the prudence and wisdom of world leaders and evoke the hopes and invocations of all who long for lasting peace."

Report Asked on Condition Of Oak Bay Haunted House

A report on the condition of the Gonzales Point "haunted house" was ordered Monday night by Oak Bay Council.

Council acted on a complaint from H. and D. E. Haupthoff, 25 Maquinna, who live near the abandoned two-storey house at 2120 Penzance.

The "deteriorated state of this structure... detracts from the value of the surrounding properties and gives the whole district a slum-like appearance," their letter said.

"The empty building has attracted a vast number of young children and teen-age children who engage in such pastimes as breaking windows, damaging the interior, throwing objects out of windows, at all hours of the day and night."

"The morals of teen-age children are suffering from the use of this building as a meeting place at night."

Coun. Fred Robinson labelled the house "an eyesore." For the past 30 years it has "contravened a lot of our bylaws," he said.

Paratroops Set for 'Assault'

EDMONTON (CP)—More than 300 army paratroopers stood ready today to board 16 RCAF Flying Boxcars and begin one of the biggest airborne winter assault exercises ever staged in Canada.

The winter manoeuvres, under the code name "Bulldog IV," are for units of the mobile striking force. The target is a "radar station" captured by an enemy attack in the Camp Wainwright area.

Woman Committed Sixth Time

TORONTO (CP)—A 52-year-old grandmother, charged with murder in the slaying of her grandchild, has been committed to a mental hospital for the sixth time in 11 years. Mrs. Jessica Toy was charged Feb. 4 after five-year-old Diana Robertson, with whom she was baby-sitting, was found drowned in six inches of water in the bathtub of her parent's home.

Missing Children Turn Up Safe

FORT WALTON, Fla. (AP)—Five children missing overnight in near-freezing weather were found safe but wet and cold today. Hundreds of military personnel, police, firemen and volunteers had hunted for them in a chill rain through the night.

Eight Homes Razed by Fire

TORONTO (BUP)—About 60 persons were homeless following a $50,000 fire which destroyed eight downtown homes today. The fire, blamed on careless smoking, broke out in a Bathurst Street home and quickly spread to seven other neighboring ones. Police were forced to evacuate the entire block.

Tallulah Stricken by Virus

NEW YORK (AP)—Stage star Tallulah Bankhead has both a kidney infection and virus pneumonia, hospital officials said today. Her condition was reported to be good. The actress was taken by ambulance to hospital amid rumors that she had some sort of serious mishap.

FLAMING RED SKIES

Northern Lights Thrill Hundreds

A spectacular, richly-hued display of Northern Lights delighted thousands of Victorians Monday evening as the sun neared a solar maximum in its 11-year cycle of activity.

The aurora borealis began to make its appearance even before dusk, first as concentrated areas of cherry-red fire, later diffusing across the sky.

In every part of the city, living rooms emptied in favor of porches and lawns as citizens drank in the awesome beauty of the sight.

Between 6.30 and 7 p.m. many thought the red glow was caused by a fire, and newspaper offices were bombarded with callers asking the reason.

The display was described by some observers as the "most remarkable" ever seen. It lasted until nearly midnight.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, said he had perhaps seen "more spectacular" northern lights, but could not remember such a vivid red in all his years of observation.

He said it was likely, if nights were clear, Victoria would see several more brilliant displays in the next few weeks.

"The sun is pretty well at solar maximum," he explained. "Solar activity works on an 11-year cycle, and this is the 11th year of the cycle. This is why this time was chosen for the International Geophysical Year."

Socreds to Run 12

TORONTO (CP)—David Milne, vice-president of the Ontario Social Credit Association, said Monday night the party will have 12 candidates—same number as in the last federal election—running in the 18 Toronto and York ridings in the March 31 federal election.

Scientists all over the world are co-operating in studies of the earth and the solar system during "IGY."

Dr. Petrie said Monday's aurora borealis was caused by the sun setting off explosions and flames, due to the 11-year cycle activity.

The scientific theory is that the auroral lights result from charged electrical particles emitted by the sun which then penetrate the atmosphere, causing it to glow. The displays are concentrated in bands around the north and south poles because the particles are believed to be deflected by the earth's magnetism.

While Dr. Petrie was confident there would be more "spectaculars in the sky" in following weeks, he said no accurate prediction could be made of the next appearance.

In any event, Victoria's weatherman, Bill Mackie, dashed hopes for a repeat performance tonight with a forecast of heavy cloud layer.

Monday's auroral lights were general across Canada, but seen best in B.C. Clouds over the rest of the western provinces cut down visibility, although Yorkton, Sask., had a good look as clouds lifted briefly.

Farther east, the aurora borealis interfered with telegraph and teletype transmission. The U.S. weather bureau reported the lights were seen over most of the United States and as far south as Vero Beach, Fla.

James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer of the Hayden Planetarium in Manhattan, said he had never seen such complete redness in the northern lights. In many parts of the North American continent, fire departments received alarm calls. On Vancouver Island, the Sidney volunteer fire department was called out to extinguish a non-existent fire.

Canada, U.S.
Relations
Good—Dulles

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Dulles said today he believes U.S. relations with Canada are being maintained on a satisfactory basis despite difficulties which he conceded have developed between the two countries.

A "whole series of problems" exists between Canada and the United States, he said in listing some Canadian complaints against the U.S. and there is "no absolutely satisfactory" solution to all of them.

But, he told questioners at his weekly press conference, "we have very good relations indeed" with the present Canadian government and with its ministers.

His comment came in response to a reporter's request for his observations as to why Canada-U.S. relations have deteriorated and what can be done to improve them.

CITES DISPOSAL PROGRAM

It followed also a state department denial Monday of an editorial in the Milwaukee Journal which quoted Dulles as telling congressional committee in closed session that the "deterioration was due to the inexperience of the present Canadian government in handling diplomatic relations."

Diesel Dispute Meeting Set

MONTREAL (CP)—CPR and union officials will meet here Thursday to discuss the controversial diesel dispute—a long-standing issue that could lead to a nation-wide rail strike.

The CPR asked for the meeting to make changes in the working agreements between the company and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), aimed at eliminating firemen from freight and yard diesels.

The company wants to renegotiate the agreements in the light of last Tuesday's report by the Kellock Royal Commission which said diesel firemen are "unnecessary" on all but passenger trains.

Trial Ordered For Widow
In 2 Slayings

JARROW, Eng. (Reuters)—Mrs. Mary Wilson, "the widow of Windy Nook," today was committed for trial on charges of murdering two of her husbands within weeks of their marriage to her.

Mrs. Wilson, 66, was sent to trial after a pathologist testified that both men died from phosphorus poisoning, probably administered a few days before their death.

The pink-cheeked Mrs. Wilson, married three times in all, is charged with murdering husbands Ernest Wilson, 76, and Oliver Leonard, 75, with elemental phosphorus and brandy found in rat, beetle and cockroach poisons.

The court was told that Mrs. Wilson collected a total of £77 on her husbands' deaths.

EVENTS REVIEWED
Mr. Gregory gave a review of events in the case since the charges against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers in 1955 which he said showed Mr. Bonner has been "derelict in the performance of his duties."

Mr. Bonner "should be replaced at once by someone who is prepared to fulfil the function of attorney-general without fear or favor," Mr. Gregory said.

Premier Bennett and other members of the cabinet share responsibility for the attorney-that "he can be treated as a normal patient." He is suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries.

Forward John Berry and halfback Duncan Edwards remained "in acute danger," however, along with co-pilot Kenneth Rayment. All three were still unconscious today.

Taken off the critical list along with Busby was Frank Taylor, a London sports writer, while improvement was noted in the condition of halfback Jackie Blanchflower, another team member.

All of the others injured in the crash that took 21 lives, including seven stars of the famed United team, were reported progressing favorably.

CASE RESUMES
WEDNESDAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charges of bribery and conspiracy against Robert Sommers, former lands and forests minister, as well as four companies and their executives are scheduled to be heard Wednesday when the case resumes.

City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran said when the case adjourned more than two weeks ago that all crown and defence lawyers said they would be ready Wednesday to proceed "all day, every day" until a conclusion is reached.

general's actions, the Liberal member said.

He called on other government backbenchers to take a similar stand to that of North Vancouver MLA J. Melvin Bryan who quit Social Credit ranks to become an Independent because of his dissatisfaction with government handling of the case.

Premier Bennett and other members of the cabinet share responsibility for the attorney-

to show their courage is now," Mr. Gregory said, "when the sole issue is the administration of justice rather than the guilt or innocence of any accused person."

Mr. Gregory also criticized the premier's "reprehensible and irresponsible" attack on Mr. Bryan when he crossed the floor last Monday.

"I trust that we will never again see the day when a man is made the subject of personal attack when he acts in accordance with his principles."

The Liberal member said he had seen Highways Minister Gagliardi in the corridor with Mr. Bryan trying to persuade the North Vancouver MLA from taking his stand against the attorney-general.

"That's a lie," Mr. Gagliardi thundered at him.

(On the day Mr. Bryan called on the attorney-general to resign, reporters saw him dozed for more than 20 minutes with Mr. Gagliardi before the sitting began. What was discussed? "We weren't talking about the weather," Mr. Bryan says.)

U.S. Eases Stand
On Conference

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that a foreign ministers' meeting with Russia is not essential as a prelude to an East-West summit conference.

Dulles' statement was viewed as a major step toward early East-West negotiations through ambassadorial channels to arrange a summit conference later this year.

The United States, until now, has placed heavy emphasis on a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers—a move the Soviets have opposed.

Dulles made his statement at a news conference about an hour after President Eisenhower and new Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov exchanged formal pledges "that the United States and Russia will work for peace through negotiations."

AGREE ON HOPES

Menshikov told reporters after calling at the White House to present his credentials that the president also agreed on the hope that a new summit conference can be "organized."

Dulles, at his news conference, warned anew that it always is difficult to negotiate with the Soviets at any level. He said negotiations take long and hard bargaining.

While negotiations with the Soviets involve hard work, Dulles said however, that this government should undertake to determine whether mutually advantageous agreements can be reached.

Dulles sought to show that his statement on a foreign ministers' meeting did not constitute a shift in American policy. He said that the president had not made a foreign ministers' meeting a pre-condition to a summit meeting in his letter of Jan. 12 to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

New French Crisis
Over Tunisia Raid

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—Premier Felix Gaillard agreed to immediate National Assembly debate today on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village.

The Saturday bombing set off a diplomatic crisis for France which threatened relations with Tunisia and sparked world-wide criticism of French policy.

Tunisia said 68 persons were killed, 10 were missing and 84 wounded in the raid.

Tension mounted in Tunisia, where French troops have been confined to their bases by order of President Habib Bourguiba. The Tunisian president was reported determined that French troops must be evacuated from his country as a result of the bombing.

GALLERIES CROWDED

The National Assembly was packed and the diplomatic galleries full as Gaillard strode to the speakers rostrum and announced that he would meet his critics head-on.

The premier, deeply disturbed by the unfavorable foreign reaction, has been in almost continual meetings with his ministers, deputies in the assembly, diplomats and others.

In Washington, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the U.S. deplores the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

Dulles also told a news conference that his government is investigating whether the French used American-made arms in the attack. Dulles said he raised the question with French Ambassador Herve Alphand at an unusual Sunday conference at his home during which he expressed U.S. concern over the attack.

Dulles said the matter of U.S.-built weapons in French hands is very complex because they were supplied to France at different times and under different conditions. Unless they were recently supplied, he said, it is very difficult to identify the equipment.

Dulles also disclosed that Tunisia has asked the U.S. to support her when she takes the bombing incident before the UN Security Council.

NORMAN CRIBBENS
IN THE LEGISLATURE

We had just about everything at the Buildings Monday afternoon. Cows milked on the front steps. Farmers storming through the golden gates of the Legislature and shaking the main doors leading into the chamber. CCF leader Bob Strachan raging at the government for two hours and 40 minutes. And then, just to round off the day, George Gregory demanding both a new courthouse and the resignation of Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

If, as Premier Bennett says, this is a quiet session, there will have to be some very quiet days ahead to make up for Monday.

Happily, the rather grim atmosphere inside the Buildings was relieved by the ludicrous appearance outside of Maude the Cow being driven to Parliament by a man in a top hat, followed by gay young women in flowered skirts.

Had the young women tossed roses to the spectators, the whole thing would have looked like a Roman carnival, especially when the cow was led up the majestic stone steps. But when she was milked, so that the white liquid flowed down them, the joke turned just a little sour.

The crowds outside the chamber were chanting "We want Bennett!" when CCF leader Strachan, in a dark blue suit with a sprig of heather, launched his attack on the premier's 1958 budget and the applause he received led some of the demonstrators to think it was meant for them.

"That will show this government the temper of the farmers on this Island," commented the CCF leader.

Mr. Strachan lashed himself into a moral fury as he attacked the Bennett administration for cutting staffs in hospitals and jails and reducing the civil service.

"This is not responsible government but reprehensible government," he thundered, pointing an angry finger at the cabinet.

Premier Bennett glared back ferociously but recovered his good humor when Mr. Strachan read his horoscope (for Sept. 6 birthdays) out of last Friday's Times—the day Mr. Bennett brought down his budget. It said:

"Promising to give payment on a debt ahead of the time in which you can comfortably do so would bring dire results."

"There will be dire results for him all right," warned Mr. Strachan. But he omitted the rest of the horoscope:

"After lunch you can make better arrangements for a larger income." (The premier's budget speech began at 3 p.m.)

At the top of his fighting form, Mr. Strachan hit out at the famous airplane expenses of Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, now topping $70,000.

B.C. OWNS CENTENNIAL CREST RIGHTS

Attorney-General Bonner said Monday the province has sole rights to the centennial crest.

"It has been brought to my attention that others have claimed copyright and royalties in the province's centennial emblem," the attorney-general said in a prepared statement.

"The province owns the copyright in this emblem and permission for its use may be readily obtained from the centennial committee upon payment of the usual registration fee of $10.

"No other fee or royalty is payable."

Municipalities In Dire Straits

A complete lack of appreciation for the financial problems facing municipalities was shown by the government in its new budget, Victoria Liberal MLA George Gregory told the legislature Monday.

Municipalities are in "very dire straits," Mr. Gregory said. Their income is limited to taxation on real property and does not keep pace with the economy.

The Liberal member also criticized the government's education finance policy, and said it must bring its scale of approved teachers' salaries up to the level actually paid by the school boards.

On the government's current economy drive, Mr. Gregory said:

"We don't think debt reduction is so important it has to be achieved at the cost of human welfare services."

He also criticized the cut in the budget for totem pole preservation program, and said because this is centennial year Chief Mungo Martin should be "kept chopping."

Socreds' Radio Plans Criticized

CCF leader Robert Strachan charged Monday that Premier Bennett is trying to undermine the free press of B.C.

Mr. Strachan criticized the hiring by the Social Credit party of a radio broadcaster to give the party's version of events in the legislature.

The opposition leader told the House that what is needed is a written record of all debates such as Hansard.

"But the government refuses our request for Hansard," he said.

"So I can only assume that this government doesn't want the written record of this House."

"This means they are free to stand up and claim they were misquoted, and to twist what we say . . . and they try to do this by undermining the confidence of the people in it."

"Now we're to have a ministry of propaganda, a paid servant of the people who support this government, going on about 12 stations every day."

"If the Social Credit government wants to tell the people the truth about what happens here, it's simple—have a Hansard in this legislature."

B.C.'s civil defence organization is "totally unready" for the disaster of war, Victoria Liberal MLA George Gregory warned Monday.

The people of the province are being given a false sense of security about CD's preparedness, Mr. Gregory told the legislature.

No real progress has been made since civil defence was organized here, he said, and the provincial government appropriation has been reduced by 60 per cent over the last four years.

"There's no point in spending money on civil defence if we don't know where we're going," Mr. Gregory said.

The Liberal member said in the Victoria area there is no transportation to take evacuees to outlying areas, and "not one can of beans or one band aid" at evacuation centres such as Sidney.

Mr. Gregory urged the government to make survival kits available.

He also criticized the fact that there is no special radio frequency set aside for civil defence communications in the event of an attack.

Projects undertaken by the commission last year included improvements on the Dallas Road waterfront, Willows Beach and Mount Tolmie, and construction of a new roadway through Beacon Hill Park from the end of Superior Street.

COST OF GAGLIARDI'S PLANE TOO HIGH, COMPLAINS CCFer

Cost of operating Highways Minister Gagliardi's departmental airplane was criticized in the Legislature Monday by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

Noting that the public accounts for 1956-57 show the cost of operating and maintaining the plane was $70,000, Mr. Strachan commented:

"It's getting to be pretty expensive flying for a plane that seems to end up at Kamloops every Friday afternoon, and happens to be ready Monday to fly back to Vancouver." Mr. Strachan also criticized discrepancies in figures covering costs of the plane and other travelling expenses in the Highways Department report for 1956-57 and the public accounts.

Human Needs Sacrificed For Money Says CCFer

Opposition Leader Charges Socreds Deceiving Public for Party Ends

CCF Leader Robert Strachan accused the government Monday of sacrificing human needs to carry out its policy of debt reduction.

While cutting down staff at provincial institutions to save money, the government is putting aside an extra $12,000,000 for debt reduction that is not required, he said.

"The premier has now stated plainly and clearly that he prefers to shovel money into the coffers of someone in New York rather than help the mentally ill here at home."

Mr. Strachan delivered a withering attack on the budget presented to the legislature Friday by Premier Bennett.

INCOMPETENCE, NEGLECT "The government has been guilty of incompetence and neglect in their economic and financial policy," he charged.

Estimates for the coming fiscal year are "calculated to deceive the electorate and were designed for party political ends."

"They do not provide a solution to the problems facing the province, Mr. Strachan said, and are unjust because they discriminate against local authorities and fail to provide sufficient monies for adequate rehabilitation of our lost citizens, increased care for needy."

Mr. Strachan said the CCF supported the government's regular debt retirement program which will amount to $13,000,000 in the coming year, but sees no need for the supplementary $12,000,000 reduction.

"Debt reduction or human need—that's the main question of the budget," he said.

TO CUT EMPLOYEES

The CCF leader said a study of the estimates showed the government intends to reduce the civil service by some 719 jobs, including 290 in provincial mental hospitals.

A drop of 11 positions in the provincial agriculture department was bitterly assailed by the opposition leader.

"You're throwing the farmers of British Columbia to the wolves," he said.

SLOAN DISREGARDED

By cutting down the size of the Forest Service, the government is "throwing the Sloan report out the window and sacrificing the industry," Mr. Strachan said.

The CCF leader read a statement issued by the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Medical Association protesting inadequate services at provincial mental institutions, and said it amounted to "outright condemnation" of government policies.

He also accused the premier of giving only "part of the story" in reports of PGE operating profits.

The people of the province should be told the full facts about the PGE debt, he said.

PAIR OF BOOTS NOW ON WAY

Generous Chief Went Shoeless

The sad story of a shoeless Indian chief will soon have a happy ending.

This week a cheery "foot-note" was added by Lt.-Col. Gilbert Howland, 3749 Quadra, who headed a clothing drive to assist poverty-stricken Indians at Ahousat on the west coast of the Island.

The story began when Chief Paul Sam, footsore and unemployed, appealed to the Indian Arts and Welfare Society for a pair of boots for himself and clothing for members of his band.

The soles of his boots were gone, he wrote. The children were ill-clad and so were their parents.

The Indians, who make their livelihood from the sea, have no money to buy clothes because of poor returns from fishing during the past three years.

The Indian society, the Society of Friends (Quakers), and the Lake Hill Women's Institute, responded to the appeal. They sent 24 sacks of clothing to the settlement.

The chief held a big potlatch to distribute the clothing. Over 500 Indians attended and staged their traditional dances.

It was a big day for the chief. He was generous with his handouts. Standing barefooted before a large fire, he gave an article of clothing to every member of the band.

But when the potlatch ritual was over, the kindly chief looked at his own feet. He was still without boots.

"I have given away all the clothing, but I'm still without boots. Can you help me?"

Col. Howland said the chief was sent a pair of boots this week.

Teachers' Pay Boost Alarms School Board

Misgivings about the effect of an arbitration board award of a 12.7 per cent pay increase to 194 teachers in School District 68 were expressed Monday by the Nanaimo School Board chairman.

The increase will amount to $106,999, Mrs. Marion Ricker said.

It is estimated the award will result in a tax rate increase of about two mills. If Nanaimo city council or rural representatives do not accept the increase, cutback can be expected in other fields, such as school maintenance, Mrs. Ricker said.

The new wage scale will mean an additional $250 annually for novice teachers up to $2,700, and $290 for secondary school teachers with 13 years experience who will now get $7,000.

Starting rates in other categories follow: Elementary B, $3,000, up $400; Elementary A, $3,300, up $400; Secondary C, $3,600, up $450; Secondary B, $4,000, up $600; Secondary A, $4,400, up $700.

Teachers looking for jobs will "naturally" tend to bypass Victoria for Nanaimo because of higher salaries there, a Greater Victoria Teachers' Federation official said today.

Ross Simms, public relations chairman, said this would be the effect of an arbitration board ruling raising salaries for Nanaimo teachers.

Borstal Closing Protest Studied By Island JCs

NANAIMO (CP) — A vote may be taken at the next district meeting of Vancouver Island Junior Chamber of Commerce members protesting the proposed closure of New Haven Borstal School by the provincial government.

Decision was made as a result of discussion on a motion by Robert Lucas, Port Alberni, at a Vancouver Island district meeting of chamber members.

Attending the annual meeting were over 30 delegates and their wives from junior chamber branches at Courtenay, Port Alberni, Duncan and Victoria. Chairman was former Port president W. (Bill) McKenzie.

A number of motions were passed at the business session.

Laurie Patten, of Nanaimo, brought in a suggestion that all Island units join in distributing centennial brochures to friends and relatives in Canada and the United States.

New Canadians may be given free speech classes on a junior chamber recommendation.

Victoria president Ira Hill said his unit had set a target of 200 members for the coming year. There are 138 paid-up members at present.

Island Air Crash Fatal to Pilot

One man is dead and another in hospital at Alert Bay following the crash of a light aircraft on northern Vancouver Island.

A six-man rescue party Monday found Lloyd Helsden, 29, huddled under a shorn-off wing, badly bruised and shaken.

The pilot, K. G. Mainwaring, 37, was dead in the wreckage. The plane crashed Sunday on a Vancouver Island mountain-side, Alert Bay, on a small offshore island, is 10 miles from the crash scene.

Rescuers toiled 1,500 feet up the side of a mountain to reach the wreck after it was spotted from the air.

OWNED BY FLIER

The float-equipped plane was owned by the pilot. He and Helsden were both mechanics at the Canadian Forest Products Englewood operation, near Alert Bay.

They lived at Nimpkish Lake, 18 miles south, but originally had come from England. At the time of the crash they were returning from a 50-mile flight to Zeballos, on the west coast of the Island. They ran into bad weather.

When the plane failed to report at Alert Bay a search was ordered. Monday afternoon the wreckage was spotted from a plane owned and piloted by Bill Groth, a former commercial airlines flyer. With Groth was Bob Pearrault.

After spotting the wreckage they flew to Alert Bay, where Pearrault joined RCMP and civilian rescuers to return to the scene.

They travelled part of the way by water taxi and truck, then scaled the sheer face of the unidentified mountain to where the wreckage lay.

Pearrault said: "It was almost straight up and down."

Helsden had managed to crawl from the plane and take shelter under a wing that had been shorn off. Mainwaring's body was left in the plane and will be brought out today.

Post Office Expansion For Sidney

SIDNEY — The post office here will be enlarged this year and facilities improved. It has been announced by Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes.

The present building was erected in 1936, and since that time the number of patrons using the office has multiplied several times.

Improvements will include installation of additional lock boxes.

Peanuts Thief Gets 6 Months In Oakalla Prison

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Joseph Johnson, 21, was sentenced to six months in Oakalla Prison when he pleaded guilty in Port Alberni police court Saturday to breaking and entering the motor vessel Uchuck.

The court was told that a jacket, which Johnson admitted was his, was found in the engine room of the vessel, and that two packages of cigarettes, a loaf of bread and a package of peanuts had been stolen.

The accused youth said he had been drinking Thursday night when the offence occurred and that he did not remember the incident.

The Rotary Club here has donated $1,000, and Argonaut Mines has offered the use of a tractor for 100 hours. Land was donated by the lands and forests department, and it is hoped to have play areas, picnic tables, a swimming pool, wading pool, and tennis courts.

Three Groups Press Drive For Highway

Three promotional committees were set up recently to press the drive for a completed highway through the Yellowhead Pass from B.C. to Alberta.

The action was taken by 30 members of the Yellowhead Route Association of B.C. who met at Clearwater.

Their objective is a completed road by 1960.

The group also wants the highways department to spend more money maintaining the existing, inadequate road.

The meeting decided to publish a descriptive folder and strip-map depicting the entire length of Highway No. 5, from Princeton to Tete Jaune Cache.

Resolutions urging action on the highway project have been sent to Victoria and Ottawa.

The next general meeting is scheduled for March 3 at Clearwater.
